

WE APPEAL TO

all Princetonians who are anxious to share their Holidays with others — with others whose ways of life and hopes for the future force them to remain in the shadows where Christmas can be one more long, gray day.

Because Christmas, particularly in a world shaken by war and fears and besieged by nagging doubts, is a season for inner as well as outer joy, and because all too seldom do those thirsting for happiness and a sense of belonging come to feel that Christmas can also be for them, TOWN TOPICS presents for the entire Princeton community the following case-histories which have been carefully documented by the Family Service Agency.

There are among us several dozen boys and girls and an ever-growing number of elder citizens who have been struck down as any of us might be struck down. They range in age from toddlers and seemingly mature 'teen-agers to desperately concerned grandparents and they could be rightfully called Princeton's "perplexed, or forgotten few." While their basic, everyday needs, such as shelter, food and medicines, are met by the established welfare services, what they need — and crave above all else — is the assurance that human beings are important, and never more so than at this time of year.

Most often it is the inching paralysis of worry and loneliness and uncertainty, whether forcing 10-year-old Mary to scream in the night or causing 78-year-old Miss P. to withdraw into a world of her own, that is hard to define, even more difficult to resolve. The unseen problems of the individual and the complicated relationships between human beings are crucial issues on which lives can be wrecked beyond salvage — unless, somehow or other, they are given the kind of thoughtful assistance and guidance which are even more important than tinsel or bright lights, or laughter around the Christmas table.

LONG, LONG ROAD

The spectre of death, or at best the prospect of life-long institutionalization of a hopelessly crippled husband, hovers over 36-year-old Mrs. T. and her five children. Several months ago Mr. T. was hospitalized for what he thought would be for two or three weeks. The final diagnosis, however, brought this family's world crumbling down around them: Mr. T. has lost all muscular response and never again will be able to do anything for himself.

Unable to support her children on the income from her part-time job, and desperately trying to muster the strength to assume total responsibility for a fatherless family, Mrs. T. was understandably eager for help and counsel. The welfare services responded magnificently, and, with Family Service guidance, Mrs. T. gained confidence in her abilities and in her plans to move the T.'s back to the gentler climate of her native Florida.

With the assistance of hospital authorities and other community services, and under the oversight of a thoughtful case-worker, Mrs. T. has carefully organized her family for a new kind of life. It will be a long, long road for the T.'s but there is every reason to believe that this wonderfully courageous and dedicated mother will be able to cope with massive challenges.

ABANDONED

It was late on a stormy Friday afternoon when a shaken young woman called, stating "we have no more food and my baby is awfully ill." Abandoned by the man who had pledged his love, and forced from her home by a bitter mother, Miss C. had used her meager savings to buy drugs for month-old Carol. She was given emergency funds and arrangements were made for a doctor's care.

During the next several days this bewildered, child-

COUNT THE COST
Before Van Ray, The Borough's anxious concern about its rising taxes was expressed in clear and concrete form Tuesday night as Borough Councilman Charles Cornforth, a financial expert who is chairman of Council's Finance Committee, told the Borough Planning Board the sharp facts of life about taxes. The Planning Board had invited Mr. Cornforth to appear. The Board, studying its own Master Plan, is trying to decide which parts of the Plan to implement first, and one of the prime considerations is "How much will what cost?"

As an example of cost and taxes, Mr. Cornforth took the four-plus acres of land where the old quarry is, between North Harrison and Spruce Street. The 1 and 6 belongs to Charles B. Erdman and the Planning Board is thinking about buying it from Mr. LaPlaca and making it into a park.

Mr. Cornforth blocked out for the Planning Board three aspects of what he called the "A.T.C." — Actual Tax Cost.

First: Land cost. This would probably be financed by a bond issue, for a parcel as large as Mr. LaPlaca's. For every bond dollar borrowed, Mr. Cornforth said, the Borough must count on repaying at least $1.50. The quarry's four-plus acres has a full value of $62,000, and Mr. Cornforth recalled the $115,000 purchase price of the adjoining housing for the elderly plot, (also bought from Mr. LaPlaca) and suggested the quarry might cost about as much to buy back a $100,000 bond issue with its interest would cost the Borough $7,500 a year for 20 years.

Second: Tax loss. Because the property would go off the tax rolls, the Borough would lose about $17,000 a year in taxes. This, added to the $7,500, would bring the cost to about $24,500 a year. "Eventually, you'll get rid of paying that $7,500, but you'll never get back the $17,000 rate-able," Mr. Cornforth warned, "and your loss here could be greater, depending on what the tax rate is."

Third: The "indefinite." What would the quarry have done with the land if the Borough hadn't bought it? Mr. LaPlaca had tried to sell it fully, for a variance allowing two-family houses. Mr. Cornforth said that again, like the "Nassau Arms" on North Harrison might bring in $30,000 a year in taxes, whereas houses with children could cost more in school taxes than they would bring in.

The Broad Picture. Turning from a possible specific in the definitely general, Mr. Cornforth drew a picture of the Borough's tax situation. The total true value of everything in the Borough is TOWN TOPICS goes into every home and office of the town. Princeton, by their own figures, no other newspaper does half well.

MAYORS IN REUNION: The present mayor of Princeton was joined by three of his predecessors Sunday at dedication ceremonies for the new Borough Hall. Mayors and their terms are, left to right: Nimot C. Morgan Jr., (1936-48); Charles R. Erdman Jr., (1936-48 and 1948-50); B. Franklin Bunn, (1928-30) and Mayor Henry S. Patterson. Mr. Bunn was also mayor of the Township and is the only man to have headed both municipalities.

$232,000,000 in an area of 1.76 square miles. Because taxes are paid on only 39% of this, he calculated the area is theoretically only 7 square miles.

Our ability to tax has shrunk," he commented.

Last year, the Borough had an 18% tax increase, including local, county and school taxes. Local taxes accounted for 5% of this increase, and this 5% would have been zero if the Borough hadn't floated the $1.6 million bond issue to pay for realigning Jackson Street, re-warping the incinerator, building Borough Hall and paying for the Borough's share of the library.

This bond issue went for 3.8% last December, and Mr. Cornforth said that today, municipal bonds were probably 4.25%, Charles R. Erdman, Planning Board member and former mayor, observed that the Borough is just now paying off an old bond issue that cost only 1.5%.

Under the Ceiling. Under the law, the Borough's debt ceiling is $31 million. As of last January, the debt was $2.4, and although this leaves a cushion of $670,000 it is as close as still to the limit as the Borough has ever come. Mr. Cornforth stated.

Taking a look at the long tax trend, he said, "Some of us on Council are really quite concerned: in the last five years, the increase in taxes — local, school and county — has been 11% each year. Five years earlier, it wouldn't even have been half that, so the RATE of increase is rising, and this is what is so very disturbing."

By coincidence, the local budget alone is rising about 11% also, Mr. Cornforth added.

"Few families in the Borough have an annual increase in income of 11%," he pointed out, "so we're demanding a larger and larger proportion of everyone's income for taxes."

He suggested that a $33 in increase for a family paying $200 a year in taxes was worse than a $20 increase for a family paying $2,000 a year, and he said he had heard of families who have moved out of Princeton because of these increases.

Nowhere But Up. "Nobody in his right mind believes it is possible to reduce taxes by changing the character of this community," Mr. Cornforth reminded the Board. "By

Svetlana To Visit

Svetlana Alluyeva is planning a two week visit with friends in Princeton sometime soon.

The daughter of Joseph Stalin was at first rumored to be buying a house here; however, Edward S. Greenbaum of 101 Mercer Street, lawyer who handled many of the details connected with publication of Mrs. Alluyeva's memoirs, said this week that she would be coming to Princeton only as a visitor.

Mr. Greenbaum declined to give the name of her host, except to say that she would not be staying with the Greenbaums. She is also a close friend of George F. Kennan, 146 Hodge Road, former ambassador to Russia, and Mrs. Kennan.

that I mean getting in a lot of rates, but we hope to stop the increase at 11%, and even get it below."

Each year, about $90,000,000 of the Borough's debt is paid off. Norman Williams, Board vice-chairman, suggested that the Borough might therefore invest $100,000 each year in various projects with out raising rates at all, even to cover any increase in "r"-est taxes.

And so Mr. Cornforth turned to the five-year future. . . . to the $1 million to remodel the incinerator, the $70,000 for a fire-truck. The B o r o u g h's state-required capital budget proposes $20,000 a year toward the truck and $80,000 toward the $1 million for the sewer.

Money set aside, Mr. Cornforth observed, is money earned interest, and for a time he and Raymond F. May, the Borough's planning consultant, and a few Planning Board members explored the idea of selling money every year toward this project or that, so that interest money would be coming in, instead of going out.

However, Mr. Cornforth reminded the Board that this was merely taxing the tax payer before he really needed to be taxed, because the salted away money would have to come from the taxpayer's wallet.

"I believe," Mr. Cornforth concluded, "that the Planning Board should regard itself as in arm's length from the tax aspect of any proposal as an integral part of the community's need for it."

We Appeal To...

like mother, with a grade-school education and literally overwhelmed by filling out the forms required for welfare care, was guided through the valley of despair by a skilled worker who made possible the operation that saved the baby's life.

Today Miss C. is able, "for the first time I remember, to face up to her problems and to talk about goals for herself and Carol. She has learned how to care for her child, is gaining self-respect in managing on her own, and is completing her high school education at home in anticipation of becoming self-sufficient when the baby is a 'male' older."

M. R. B.

Protracted psychiatric care is essential if Mr. B. and his appealing family are to survive. Some weeks ago Mr. B., owner of a struggling small business, came to Family Service to inquire about the possibilities of placing his three children, aged 15, 14 and 13, in foster homes. Obviously distraught, and haunted by the fear that something awful was about to happen to his loved ones, his business, and himself, Mr. B. had reached the point where he believed that he might be able to regain control of himself and "my nerves" if the children were out of the home temporarily.

Mr. B., who has worked incredible hours in building his family's future, was made to see that his own anxieties and his feeling that his health was about to fail are matters which can be discussed with others. Gradually, with professional guidance, Mr. B. is making excellent progress in grappling with his difficulties and at age 45 is coming to believe that he and his devoted wife will be able to maintain his home and business and "educate the children."

JOHN H.

A Police Juvenile Officer returned the H. family to Family Service inasmuch as 17-year-old John, who is capable of doing outstanding work in the high school, had attempted to run away from home for the second time in as many weeks. While the parents were seen by one worker, John was assigned to another. During the course of several interviews John complained of his mother's overprotective interference in all of his affairs and, in his words, "treating me like a baby." The background revealed that two years ago John's older brother had been killed in an automobile accident, a tragedy which made both parents extremely apprehensive about letting John out of their sight. All the privileges normally given to a 17-year-old boy were denied and, day by day, John became more rebellious and unpredictable in his behavior. Together, under the guidance of a skilled case worker, John and his parents are beginning to see the light.

AN OUTSTANDING TEACHER

Miss P. is 78 years old and lives with another unmarried sister, 16 years her junior. She had been an outstanding high school teacher all her working life but, once the newness of retirement wore off, she began to feel "useless to myself and all others." She succeeded in convincing herself that others were simply being nice to her and were not seeking her out because of her interests and personality. As Miss P.'s self-doubts mounted, she severed all contacts with others, started to fret about financial needs and came to resent her sister's activities outside of the household.

With hour upon hour to herself while her sister worked, Miss P. began to relive the many conflicting situations she had experienced in her long and extremely productive life. Unable to rid herself of these thoughts, she went to a psychiatrist who in turn referred her to the Family Service Agency where she could have an understanding ear and could be helped to see that her sister's dominance of the home situation was actually based on her own fears of approaching retirement.

Miss P.'s obsessive negative thinking, which is common to many of the elderly who suddenly find themselves cut off from the only life they really know, is gradually dissolving. She is slowly building and enjoying new relationships with her peers, is becoming active in a club for older adults and is becoming less and less reliant on the case worker who continues to stand by.

10-YEAR-OLD ORPHAN

Time and again Mary wakens at night, crying and screaming "I will die." Now 10, and orphaned five years ago, Mary lives with her maternal grandparents. She is bright and is a promising student but has been found stealing money from her classmates. The case worker, to whom she was referred by the school psychiatrist, found that besides stealing Mary is tortured by intense fears in the night.

Exploration indicated that because she had lost her only daughter, the grandmother had become excessively protective of Mary. Both grandmother and Mary, under the guidance of a counselor, are now able to agree that excessive contact and involvement with one another - to the extent of not giving the child a shred of privacy - can produce mutual anger. Mrs. C. is being helped to understand that lonely children are often ambivalent in their feelings and the fact that Mary, in fits of anger, had expressed death wishes in-

ASKS ABOUT THEFT

Of Army Guns, Did Township Police know that side arms were being stored in the National Guard Armory on River Road and had they discussed security measures with the Guard?

William Cherry, 24 Dempsey Avenue, questioned Township Mayor Carl C. Schafer, Township Police chief James Campbell and Police Commissioner Burton Peskin at Township Committee meeting Monday night about the November 21 theft of a small arsenal of machine guns and pistols from the Armory.

"I'm reluctant to point a finger," Mr. Cherry said. "The purpose of my questioning is to elicit facts, not to make charges."

Chief Campbell, who was present at the meeting, replied that Township police did know side arms were stored at the Armory, and he said that Township patrols check the building regularly. He added that he regarded the Armory's security as a state and National Guard problem, rather than a Township police matter.

"I agree with Chief Campbell," Committee member Peskin said. "I don't think we have any right to tell the Guard and the State how to handle the security of the Armory."

"You have the right to tell the President of the United States what to do!" Mr. Cherry retorted. He suggested that residents of the Township might be the victims of whoever stole the weapons.

Mr. Peskin said the theft was still under investigation.

How Could You! A neighborly disagreement between Borough and Township seems to have arisen over the Borough's proposed parking regulations which will be up for public hearing next Tuesday at 8 in Borough Hall.

The Township is upset about Borough plans for a two-hour limit on Hawthorne, Jefferson and Moore, designed to clamp down on high school students who monopolize curbs all day and sometimes keep people from getting out of their driveways.

"This won't solve the problem," explained Township engineer Frank Quinby. "It will just push all those cars into the Township."

The Traffic Safety Committee, by a 5-1 vote, asked the governing body to record its opposition to the Borough's idea, and send some objectors to the Tuesday hearing.

Committee did unanimously endorse Traffic Safety's objection, but expressed the hope that discussions with the Borough can turn up some possible solutions.

"We want to work out something satisfactory with the Borough," Mr. Wallace said. Mr. Quinby said the Traffic Safety Committee would like off-street high school parking, or possibly yellow-painted curbs flanking driveways so that home owners could at least emerge in safety.

Henry J. Frank and Mr. Quinby were named as delegates to Borough Council's hearing.

No Parking. Committee passed some parking restrictions of its own Monday night.

In the south parking yard for Community Park, the one entered from Birch through John or Race, there will be "no parking" between 2 a.m. and 6 a.m. on the north side, Mondays Wednesdays and Fridays and the south side Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. No commercial vehicles will be allowed to park at any time, unless they are on Park business.

The alternate-side arrangement is to keep people from junking cars permanently in the lot. This ordinance like all parking-traffic laws, must be approved by State Motor Vehicle officials before it becomes law, and Township attorney Gordon Griffin said he is not too sure the state will approve the ordinance because it prohibits commercial vehicles.

"They may feel it's discriminatory," Mr. Griffin suggested.

"Keeping out commercial vehicles is part of the intent of the ordinance," commented Mr. Wilson, "that's what the neighbors of the lot want, and the Recreation Commission wants."

Committee introduced the ordinance (public hearing December 10) and decided to take its chances on Motor Vehicle approval.

ordinance but split off at the request of Mr. Frank, it is an ordinance prohibiting parking, standing or stopping during school hours on sections of Guyot Avenue between Walnut and Avenue adjoining John Witherspoon School.

Mr. Frank asked to have the ordinance separately so that it won't be caught in the possible delaying tangle with Motor Vehicle over the Community Park ordinance. Public hearing on this will also be December 16.

Committee passed, subject again to Motor Vehicle OK, an ordinance restricting parking on Harris Road. Residents had objected to parking by residents and staff of Princeton Hospital.

Oden Lane was also eliminated from the Battle Park streets where parking is restricted. This, at residents' request.

Ride, Then Fly. A second firm, Air Brook Service, Inc., want to get into the airport-limousine business in Princeton. Its request for a hearing Monday was tabled because no representatives were able to appear.

The Princeton Taxi Owners' Association, through a letter from President Thomas A. Moore, recorded their objection.

The first starter in the field, New Jersey New York Airport Limousine, Inc., appeared last week in New York before the I.C.C. for permission to operate inter-city limousines between New Jersey and the New York airports.

Committeeman Wilson reported that he and Robert V. Dilley, executive director of the Princeton Chamber of Commerce, attended the I.C.C. hearings and were caught in some unexpected challenges.

I.C.C. lawyers demurred from Mr. Wilson a formal certification from Township Committee, so an extra meeting was hastily called for Tuesday, November 28. Committee quickly passed a resolution to Mr. Wilson and he took it back to New York on Wednesday.

Mr. Dilley, presenting figures to show how many people would use a limousine service, found his qualifications as a professional survey taker challenged by an I.C.C. lawyer.

At Committee on Monday night, Mr. Dilley asked for approval of Air Brook Service.

as a standby in case N.J. N.Y. Airport Limousine fails the I.C.C. and New Jersey P.U.C. tests.

Committee underlined unanimously its financial support for the Borough's purchase of a $70,000 truck and ladder truck to replace the 30-year-old one now in use. The Borough plans to spend $20,000 a year toward paying for the truck. The Township's share would be 80% under the 60-40 rateables formula.

Committee has $4,158.31 left over from various improvements and happily credited it on Monday night toward future taxes.

WHERE IS TOWN HALL? Right here, back in 1963, residents of Princeton were writing letters to the editor asking "where is our town hall?"

It took 122 years to get an answer, but on Sunday afternoon Princeton's town hall came formally into being at brief dedication ceremonies were held for the new Borough Hall.

The 1845 letter, read to Sunday's gathering by Borough Councilman William H. Walker, was written to the Princeton "Whig" by a gentleman who signed himself "Alpha."

He asked not only "where is our town hall?" but "where is our market?" and referred to meetings of the town fathers held in homes and taverns about the town, instead of in a proper town hall.

The new and proper Borough Hall, completed 122 years after "Alpha," has actually been open and in use since early fall. On Sunday, when the two architects, Richard J. Chorlton and Henry Jandl, presented the ceremonial key to Mr. Walker who in turn presented it to Mayor Henry S. Patterson, Mr. Walker told the audience that nobody was quite sure just what door it unlocked.

Governor Richard J. Hughes, slated to be keynote speaker, could not come because he was in the hospital recovering from an eye operation, but he sent a telegram of "personal and official greetings" and wished everybody "many happy returns of the day."

Princeton's two American Legion Posts—No. 76 and No. 218—presented their color guard, and Post 76 gave the Borough a flag for the new building. Janice Harsanyi led the audience of 100 in the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner." The invocation was given by Monsignor Edward C. Ben-

News Of The THEATRES

ENCHANTMENT . . .

With "Nutcracker." . . . Handsome prices and dancing sug-arplums being in short supply.
It's exciting to see "The Nutcracker" every Christmas and have one's faith in such things restored.

The two-act ballet, to Tchaik-ovsky's familiar music, will once again be given in McCar-ter Theatre by the dancers of the Princeton Regional Ballet.
Performances have been scheduled for Friday, December 15, at 8:30 and Saturday and Sunday, December 16 and 17, at 2:30 and 3 p.m.
Choreography for McCarter's production is by Audree Esley and Lila Brunner.

ENTER, VENUS

Rolling in the atlas will be in order this weekend when Princeton's Triangle, C-11 brings "Enter, Venus," its 1967 offering, to McCarter Theatre.
"Enter, Venus" will play McCarter this Thursday, Friday and Saturday afternoon. It will then go on tour along the east coast and in the provinces of the mid-west.

Invisible Venusians turn visible in that classic Triangle kick line, while hippie "flour children," a U.S. Senator who once was a child movie star (or is it the other way around) and a busynappy baking housewife contributes in some way, to the plot.

Triangle, in case there are Venusians who don't know, was founded in 1932 by Booth Tarkington. It traditions were fanned and continued by F.
Scott Fitzgerald, who wrote the 1917 show, and Josh Logan, James Stewart and Jose Ferrer who appeared in the big shows of the '30s.

Tickets for Princeton performances are available at the McCarter box-office.

ON LEAVE . . .

Repertory on the Road. Pre-dawn journeys to Atlantic City are on the schedule of McCarter's repertory company these days as actors take to the road to give "Twelfth Night" for high school students in Atlantic City and environs.

The project in Atlantic City is being watched as a kind of pilot to guide possible projects for other schools systems. Many students will see "Twelfth Night" without a charge, for example, because their tickets and transportation have been paid for with Title I money.

The special tour was planned last spring with the cooperation of Albert Hart, the State Superintendent of Schools; the Center for the Humanities for the Humanities of the State Department of Education; the Atlantic County Board of Education and the staff of McCar-ter.

TO PERFORM IN CHAPEL
Nativity Play, The Chantilly Play, a Nativity play from Medieval France, and readings of poetry will be given in the Princeton University Chapel on Christmas gits to Princeton from the Community Play-ers.
The program, free of charge, will be given Thursday and Friday, December 14 and 15, at 8:30 p.m., under the direction of Pamela Hawthorne of McCarter Theatre.
The idea for the program originated with Alan S. Downer, director of the English department at Princeton.

TO SHOW NEW FILMS
By Princeton College. Films with a Point of View is a series of documentary and experimental films recently completed by Hugh and Suzanne Johnson of Princeton, will be presented at 8:15 p.m. this Thursday in McCosh 18. Admission is free. The Creative Arts Program is sponsor.
The Johnsons are filmmakers who bring a wide range of subjects. The documentaries include "A Different Childhood," an OEO-sponsored film that contrasts the deprived childhood of George, age four, with the idealized memories of childhood shown in family albums, and "Parents are Teachers, Too," designed to be shown to parents in the Head Start program. Both films have won awards.

They are also showing selections from a candid and colorful documentary, "When New Jersey Went To Market," which describes the experiences of businessmen who moved to Mexico and Central America to develop new markets. The film, sponsored by the New Jersey Department of Economic Development, also includes the trials of a mobile exhibit of electronic equipment as it took the origin turns of the Pan-American Highway.
The experimental films include: "Prohibe," a wordless documentary of a baby's first impressions which has been widely circulated in Europe, and the premiere performance of "World of Sadness, World of Mirth," a mad and sensory piece, psychedelic in technique.

SCOPE'S TRIAL READIED
For Stage Presentations. The trial scene from "Inherit the Wind," the dramatization of the 1925 Scopes "monkey trial," is scheduled for presentation Thursday, December 14, Saturday at Princeton Theological Seminary. The 8-15 performers will be open to the public in the Seminary's Campus Center Auditorium.
Jay Nickensie and Steven Baxter will play the lead roles of Matthew Brady and Henry Drummond. The courtroom confrontation between Brady and Drummond is a fictionalization of the clash between William Jennings Bryan (Brady) and Clarence Darrow (Drummond) in 1925 when the two lawyers debated Tennessee.

POINT BLANK: Lee Marvin and Sharon Acker as the wife who betrays him in the crime-drama film now at the Theatre.

seeks right to prohibit the teaching of evolution.
The Seminary production is being headed for opening night by a director particularly suited for his duties, Karl Light, Princeton rector, played in "Inherit the Wind" during its Broadway run.

GARDEN
Rosalind Russell (now playing) gives Rosalind Russell an acting field day in the leading role. For roughly the first hour, she gets to play it in her best Auntie Mame style as a millionairess determined to get all the fun she can out of the last years of her life. She buys a Ferrari, attends a ballet class, and stands on her head in public to win a bet. She plans to buy a shabby old theatre for $25 million for sentimental reasons.
Then tragedy strikes. Her daughters and son-in-law, along with the way she's spending the money they'd rather inherit, have her committed to a mental institution. This gives Miss Russell a chance to display her chin-up-in-the-face, undaunted style. And she acts it with the same verve and assurance that she brings to the light-hearted sequences. Others in the cast are Sandra Dee as her faithful grandchild, Brian Sherrie, Audrey Meadows and Vanessa Brown. It's a woman's picture, designed to give the distasteful some laughs along with a good cry.

IT'S NEW To Us

TOYS AND GAMES AND . . .
Hobbies. The girls have it, this year. If you buy your daughter all the housework equipment in the toy stores, you can have free domestic help for as long as the thinks it's fun to wash dishes.

Zinder's approves of a dishwasher that works off your own sink faucet without plug or batteries. You can watch the bubbles as the dishes wash, if this interests you.

Another Zinder dishwasher is electric and works like a real one, and has a place service for four included. (Both at Bamberger's, too).

Then, we have a washing machine that really washes, and a knitting machine that really knits. Zinder's has a real little oven for some time now, and this year informs us that you can make your own bolognese in the oven, which is about as decadent as you can get.

There is also a popcorn popping attachment to the oven, and Zinder's has as many microwave things to make in the oven (pizza, TV dinners, pan-

A Ticket In Your Stocking
Visited Moscow lately? American Express, with an embarkation point at 10 Nassau, has asked us to remind you that a nice little 1968 summer tour can be the pleasantest thing of all to find in a Christmas stocking.

Am. Ex. is offering this year "an exciting, in-depth" 22-day trip through Russia, Bulgaria, Rumania, Hungary, Poland, Czechoslovakia, and Germany, designed to take advantage of the special activities planned in most of those countries to mark the 50th anniversary of the Russian Revolution.

Moscow, Leningrad and Kiev are on the Russian Itinerary. Bucharest and Budapest, Warsaw and Prague on the rest of the schedule, and East and West Berlin, with a view of the wall from both sides, as a conclusion. The tour is priced from $968 from New York.

Another tour, 15 days from $398, covers the Iberian peninsula, with a quick side-trip across the Mediterranean to Tunisia, Lisbon, Madrid, Seville, Estoril, Sintra — all can be on your Iberian timetable.

These are two of the tours that are blocked out for you in a new American Express booklet called "Explore Europe any of American Express." You can pick it up at the 10 Nassau office, slip it into the stocking of your choice and let the stocking-weaver plan his own tour.

Two and three-inch stuffed mice frolicking about. There's a bride and groom, a football fan in a fur coat, a city slicker mouse . . .

Our secret wish, after doll shopping this year, is for a doll that can be in the room, kick her heels in a tantrum and scream "I won't I WON'T!"

Because in 1967 do practically everything else, Zinder's can't even keep track of which doll does what. We'll try a catalogue:

• Baby: A beautiful blows kisses, moves her lips and says "I hurt my finger," among other remarks.

• Lil' Miss Fussy eats, wets, cries and kicks. Change her wet diaper and she stops crying. (Life with a real baby should only be so simple.)

• Tubby splashes in the bathtub that sits on the table-top. She has diaper, rattle, robe and washcloth.

• A doll whose name escapes us for the moment crawls by remote control, and wriggles arms and legs, and there's another one whose face crumples when she cries.

Most of these dolls live at Bamberger's, too. Do they exchange terms talk with their sisters at Zinder's? Probably not.

Bamberger's also has six-inch dolls beautifully dressed in authentic national costumes. Country Mouse has a little wooden doll seven inches tall, and a matching book by Margery Blincoe.

Snuggler? Cuddly dolls that do nothing but cuddle, are the specialty at Stiff 'n' Nonsense. This shop has an Eftanabee cuddler big enough to wear a real baby's outdoor clothes, thereby saving the trouble of making them. She comes with a small wardrobe of her own, however, including a coat.

"Victoria is another Stiff 'n' Nonsense cuddler," says the attendant on Next Page.

The "away" doll house is Zinder's "Instant Doll House" to carry under your arm like a briefcase. Arrived at your friend's house, you unfold it, and so, you have kitchen, couch, even hill equipment. $3.49.

At Country Mouse, they have a piece of doll-house furniture for collectors or little girls. It's a three-drawer Governor's Winthrop desk with pigeon holes and half-inch drawers that really pull. As you can guess, C. Mouse hopes you'll have your doll house with the

How to Grow a Garden in an Egg-Shell

Something a bit different in the toy line? Maybe one of these will help.

Disk Harrow: A Farmall 806 tractor, nine and one-half inches long, has fingertip steering, exhaust muffler, simulated engine block and hitch. Hitchable equipment includes a spreader, wagon, rake, baler, mower and the disk harrow, all to scale. Sturdy, workable little Model Yandis, in Blawhurn, and made by International Harvester. Is the $33.50 price range.

Catspaw Gaffe: One of the spiffiest zoo set at Gallery 100. These Italian animals (which are said to "diverle tutu" and do just that) come in zebra, monkey, lion, giraffe and an African warrior to keep an eye on them. They are small and collapsible, and on pedestals.

Lumberjack: Beautifully made and jointed, in natural wood, this traditional stick figure dances his jerky dance as you manipulate his long attached sticks. $3 at Surf 'N Nonsense.

Reclining Chair: If you cup your palm, you'll have an idea of the shape of this "chair" at Zinder's. No legs or arms, just a soft "L." You sit in its plastic bucket-seat and coil around all over the floor just by shifting your weight.

Matchbox Carrying Case: Does he collect Matchbox cars? This sturdy metal suitcase has partitions for 40 of the little cars and a plastic sheet to protect them before you close the lid.

Bathful Fleet: Six windup $1 West German boats not only sail your tub, but steer through bubblebath. Each bubble is a balloon — held by a man on a card. At Clayton's.

Giant Plonk: This is a stuffed fello at Bamberger's. With a sturdy metal expression and bright orange-red coat. He's high enough to sit on, but a little tricky to clutch. $20.

About that eggshell: "The Cub Book at the University Store, tells how to grow a miniature garden in an egg shell and how to cook a "toast in a hole" (fried egg in bread). $2.95.

It's New To Us

head so realistically shaped you'd think it was a real baby. Madame Alexander, at Surf, a charming little gruff doll in spectacles and a long calico gown. $8.

While we're in a cuddly mood we'll just mention Stuff's "Night Before Christmas" mouse, the three-toe long one with gangly arms and legs and a "Hugnik" on its lap. A "Hugnik" is a stuffed animal whose limbs are designed to keep the animal clinging to your arm or lap. The little Hugnik mouse is cute as a cheese.

But, oh, the fat red mouse! He's our Stuff favorite. A gathered-in mouse, with no visible feet or tail, he's simply a huggable oval about a foot $1. With the brightest, most impish eyes and gangling-lined ears. Comes in purple or turquoise, too.

A Yorkshire terrier in "Shaggy Dog" on the Stuff stuffed shelf, and a Dalmatian with floppy ears is a nice new addition to the cuddly line.

At Allen's, Stiff is out in full parade, right from that little one-inch stuffed mouse up to the 12-inch teddy-bears. Allen's thinks it has the biggest Stiff collection ANYWHERE. Anybody made a count?

Incidentally, if you have a very young child to shop for, Allen's has the complete and whole Playbook line.

BUT I'M A BOY!

And ready to ride. For boys this year, trains may be back in style. At Nassau Hobby, they've laid out the red carpet for the N-gauge, the 1/16th scale model smaller than HO. To give you an idea: the locomotive is two and one-half inches long.

For $14.95 you can have a starter "N" kit with power pack, track, Diesel locomotive and three cars, and from there, you can go all the way down the track with every miniature accessory.

With a knowing eye gleam, Nassau Hobby says this "N" size, is coffee table size, so why not leave it out all the time? And it's also the drawer size, so that a busy executive can keep his set in his desk drawer, and take it out to play with if he's feeling bored. A bored member of the board, so to speak.

Of course, the HO scale is still at Nassau Hobby, too, and that scale applies not only to trains but to racing cars. Basc set cars and track would make a good starter for Christmas.

Nassau Hobby points out the developing interest in World War II planes, especially those kits imported from England. Models are now so refined that even rivets on the wings show up. World War II? That was last year.

Small, But Ok, My! At Bamberger's, the layouts for racing cars are ready to roll, too. This store also likes for boys the M-16 Marauder, that fires 50 rounds you can actually hear, without caps or batteries, or ear drums!

Mighty Midget racers at Country Mouse are three inches long, but a tow truck whose crane really works, beats the Mighty Midget in a long-term league by an overall of one and one-half inches.

At Clayton's, antique car miniatures have never action that makes them run for only $1. At Rorer's, there's a nice six-inch model of a Volkswagen — a precise scale model, at $2.65.

What about just plain "toys" for fun? Gallery 100 spins out hours of enjoyment with its little cardboard theatre. The ease itself makes the theatre. There are figures to cut out for actors and sets. You make some of sets, your self, and use others that come with the theatre. You even get a book of literature of various things, in English, German and French.

Nassau Hobby fills stockings with two-inch cowboys and Indians and Civil War soldiers and knights in armor all in a pleasantly ahistorical mix. They are die or ftc, usually depending on whether they've decided to ride or go on foot.

Stuff 'n' Nonsense has minute figures, scarcely an inch high, some in charming little cresce scenes, others moving independently to swing from Christmas branches or stand by a Christmas candle.

A Mexican pupa, a hammer or a bird is a whistle, or an instrument to play a tune, in bright, peasant colors. Wooden dolls, jointed to jump when you pull the string — here's a clown and there's a Zulu warrior, here's an Indian and there's a jester.

Little birds and life-size birds: at Stuff are bright, just to have at Christmas. How a cricket caws? Or a three-inch batbox for your jewelry?

It's Changing-of-the-Guard time at Clayton's, with British soldiers at a devalued 36 each. Horses all over the place here, riding English saddles made in Germany. Some have wagons to pull, and the climb goes to $23 in some instances.

HAND, EYE, CRAFTSMEN
Enjoy your handiwork and will respond with delight to any of Nassau Hobby's minute kits, or to the Matchbox
"Build A Road." Younger children will be rewarded by Bloxitz, a Scandinavian import that makes 10 different loos from the pierced pieces of wood. You use plastic nuts and bolts.

Incidentally, Matchbox now makes King Size trucks, a full five-inches long. Got any long matchboxes?

Germany sends Stuff 'n' Nonsense those wonderful paper creations to make as Christmas ornaments, or just for fun.

Here are 200 animals, wonderfully swinging mobiles, and things to make out of thin material, like bookmarks, postcards (leather pockets), well, you take a look, all about $1 and $1.50.

At Zinder's, they've moved from paint-by-numbers on canvas, to ditto on wood. The end result is a faithful copy of antiqued wooden signs and plaques. Zinder's has a wholly scene, a sleigh in the snow in pleasantly primitive style, a carriage — that kind of thing.

This store also likes to play with lights in a new machine.
You use hollow glass pegs of different colors to make designs lit by a 25-watt bulb, $6.69.

What you make from Gallery 100, is a tote bag or a pillow cover in bright felt with contrasting appliques.
You glue the appliques on, but it's called the Happy Crafter Embroidery Kit.
Somebody else made it, but it would be fun to hang, anyway: Stuff's five-foot-long burnap hanging with its bright painted African animals. A horizontal hanging, smaller, has a hippo in handsome profile and the inevitable tiger.

I hear you, Bamberger's brings your musician a $30 Liverpool drum set complete with drums.
Clayton's tunes things down a bit with a junior zipper for Miles. Insert sheets of music ("Silent Night") under the strings and pluck away where the notes are.

An imported guitar with gears to keep the strings in tune, is Zinder's contribution to harmony this year. It's made in Italy, where they should know all about guitars, and it costs $9.99 with instructions and music.

All you have to do with

Slumber Parties

The absolute prime, top Christmas present of all time for the slumber party
"why-didn't-somebody-do-this-before" present of 1967, is at Allen's and it Happell at Rorer's.

It's a sleeping bag-quilt to take to slumber parties.
At Allen's, it's bright calico or print-filled with washable orlon to make a warm envelope. Zip it shut and you're ready to sleep down sleeping bag.
Zip it open and you have a quilt. It's $13, and it nightie matches for $4.

At Rorer's, it's a broadsheet lined in soft flannel, with rustproof zipper down one side and a access bottom. $9.99.
Washable. It's even gingle-proof.

Stuff's music boxes is turn them on. You'll love the spinning of his hand-crafted gold, and the endearing little shepherd on their blue mountain under a wee tree.

A boy in a tub-boat and some daisies decorate another music-box charmer at Stuff, and the one with birds and an angel, a Behms. Want "Jingle Bells"? You have to crank that one yourself, $4.25.

LEARNING IS FUN
Science: 1967. Lancel stays right on the track this Christmas with some of the handsomest science kits we've ever seen. Look them over at Ham-berger's, and try to decide:
chemistry? biology? mineralogy?

The kits, in two sizes, have been assembled in white, clean-able carrying cases that snap tight shut. The smaller ones open into two cupboard-like sections, the larger ones open into three.

The kits are attractive, with their antiseptic clean rows of little bottles, their sterile specimens (you get a real frog and crayfish in the biology kit). Prices are around $3.50.

At Nassau Hobby, there are pre-packaged microscopic specimens and "all you do is add water" to get the live, single-cell specimens. Plant and animal material, both available.
After all, who else will give encased protozoa for Christmas? You can make slides in the field as you go, with an either kit.

Nassau Hobby also has telescopes, $11.95 to $45, both for spotting and for actual astronomical observing. At the other end of the scale, there dictates her confusion and her sense of guilt about the stealing at school.

In this instance the worker found it wise to involve the grandfather in the interviews, but it took months before he was able to accept the fact that day-time disagreements with the grandmother have tended to accentuate Mary's nightmares. These dating grandparents now see that sometimes children are fearful that their thoughts and words may come true and that these thoughts and words often produce feelings of dismay and terror in the darkness of the night.

TO FEEL WANTED

Depression, a feeling of worthlessness and gradual withdrawal led to Mr. F's referral to the Family Service Agency by the Homemakers' Service. Through interviews, it was established that Mr. F, now in his 78's, had been a successful lawyer who, upon retirement, had volunteered his legal services to the underprivileged and poor. Serious surgery several years ago brought about a complete change. He remained mostly in his dimly lit apartment, indulging in thoughts of self-pity and apprehensive that he might again feel physical pain. It became evident that his primary need was to feel useful and to be among people. Inasmuch as he had been a brilliant mathematics student in his college years, he was encouraged to offer his services as a tutor at the Princeton Study Center for two hours each evening. This has brought great gratification to Mr. F. who now feels wanted and understands better than most the concerns of the oncoming generation.

MIDDLE CHILD

Over the years Mr. and Mrs. S. have had more than their share of marital and financial problems. Following a recent separation, they decided for the first time that they really wanted marriage counseling in the hope that they could communicate more effectively and thereby create a healthier, more harmonious atmosphere for their three children. The middle child, Bobby, 11, was deeply affected by his parents' marital unhappiness that last fall on his own he went to see a social worker.

In interviews Bobby shared his feelings and welcomed the opportunity of talking to someone outside the family about his mounting worries. Each week he looked forward to his hour and the chance to thrash out school problems or situations within the family. He recently recalled how hard it is in school to concentrate on reading about a happy family when his mind wanders back to his own dreary and often loveless home.

Gradually Bobby has come to see that the family situation has blurred everything he understands of life, and is beginning to realize that he alone cannot shoulder the burden of his parents' marital problems. This realization, through regular counseling, has been a freeing experience. Each week Bobby leaves Family Service a happier 11-year-old, looking forward to the things that excite those his age.

JUVENILE RECLUSE

Mr. and Mrs. T. and their three children came to Princeton from rural Pennsylvania. Having been raised "in the country," they had difficulty in adjusting to this more urban area. The mother was not used to mingling with others but kept to herself, spending her time sewing, cooking and maintaining her home. The two older girls did reasonably well in school, presenting no problems. It was the youngest and only son who presented grave worries for her steadfast refusal to talk with anyone but his parents. He was much like his father — completely withdrawn and taciturn.

Reluctantly Tommy started school and for over a year would not say a word in class nor meet a peer without whatever to talk with other children. Counseling with Mrs. T. on a weekly basis, coupled with clinical guidance, enabled her to convince Tommy that he should talk in school and should seek the friendship of others. Today Tommy is a happier member of his class, proudly reads aloud and no longer hovers on the edges of the playground. Mrs. T. is delighted, feels she is learning to be a better mother, and is beginning to meet her neighbors.

*****

Amount needed: upwards of $2,500 to enable the Family Service Agency and allied community services to extend to these neighbors of ours the thoughtful and highly specialized help which will guide them through the maze of bewilderment and could well mean the difference between despair and hope, between apathy and faith in the things that count. These, and many, many others need encouragement that can restore the hope and understanding which will rekindle aspirations for the years ahead.

THIS APPEAL IS MADE ONLY IN TOWN TOPICS. THERE WILL BE NO OTHER SOLICITATIONS OF ANY KIND AND NO ONE BUT YOU WILL EVER KNOW WHETHER OR NOT YOU PASS IT BY.

MUSIC
In Princeton

BERGANZA TO SING

In Series I Concert, Teresa Berganza, the Spanish coloratura, is said to have a voice span of two and one-half octaves and it was not long ago that she was billed as the youngest star of the international music world.

The 24-year-old singer will come to McCarter next Monday at 8:30 as the second attraction in Series I of the Princeton University Concerts series.

For her Princeton program, she has chosen songs by Monteverdi, Vivaldi, Haydn, Donizetti, Wolf, Granados, Montsalvante and de Falla. Standing room tickets are on sale at the box office.

CHOIR TO SING

At Annual Vesper Service, The Princeton University Choir will present its annual Christmas Vesper Service at 3:30 Saturday in the University Chapel.

Reorganized this year as a mixed group, the choir will sing Christmas music by Bach, Billings, Despres, Praetorius and Victoria, assisted by the University orchestra. The final number will be the Kyrie eleise cantata, "Das Neugeborene Kindelien." Carl Weinrich will direct.

BOYCHOIR TO SING

At McCarter Theatre, featuring modern and traditional carols as well as Menotti's "Annali and the Night Visions," the Columbus Boychoir will present its annual Christmas concert, at McCarter Theatre, Tuesday, December 11, 8:30 p.m. The first performances of the program, a matinee at 2:30 and an evening concert at 8:15.

Because of the Boychoir's heavy travel schedule, the choir, which has taken it as far north as Newfoundland and south to Florida, it has been unable to sing in concert in Princeton this year.

A special group rate is available for the matinee for groups of 15 or more. McCarter Theatre should be contacted for further information. Tickets for both performances are on sale at the box office.

COMPOSER COMING

To Princeton High School, Vincent Persichetti, the composer, will hear his music sung and played by the young musicians of Princeton High School on Tuesday, and will then talk to them about the music.

The Princeton High School Choir will sing Persichetti's "Mass for Mixed Chorus" at 8:15.

Things begin simply enough when Sinatra, as Tony Rome, is hired by a Miami millionaire to find out what is bugging his lovely daughter. The tale runs away from home. The first clue is a diamond pin belonging to the girl and from that point matters become steadily more obscure — and finally — bewildering. The archetypes of mysterious characters live into the act. There are petty thugs, streamer men, murderers, jewel "craze," dope peddlers and their customers, a strip-teaser and her lesbian girl friend. There is also the inevitable police officer who is always two steps behind the hero. There are several brutal scuffles and savage murders.

Keeping score on just who is who is a full-time job, but the film remains diverting most of the way, largely due to the glib and savvy dialogue, Miami scenery and the beautiful girl, Nancy Sinatra sings the title song to the east.

Includes Richard Conte and Jeffrey Lynn.

THE ERNEST FATES OF YOUNG SINGERS: The Columbus Boychoir, currently finishing its fall concert tour of the Northeastern United States, has scheduled its annual Melwood Theatre Christmas program for December 21. The boys will once again present the nativity classic, "Annali and the Night Visions."

The annual Christmas concert, Palestrina's "Hodie," and conductor William Trego Byrd's "Ave Maria," followed by the string orchestra in two difficult music we've ever sung. Bach compositions, the "Air" from the Suite No. 3 and the "Come here to discuss his work with us."

A SONG FOR CHRISTMAS

By High School Musicians. Instrumentalists and vocalists will join in the annual Princeton High School concert of Christmas music to be given this year on Tuesday, December 19 at 8 p.m. The concert will be held, as usual, in the Princeton University Chapel and will be open to the public without charge.

The brass ensemble will open the program with three traditional Christmas carols. The string quartet will play Christmas music by Schiardi, and the male chorus will sing the "Sancti Mei" of Lassus and Bach's "My Chosen King." Leroy Anderson's "Sleigh Ride" and "What Child is This," in arrangements by Walter Horner, will be performed by the woodwind ensemble.

The freshman girls chorus will sing "Rejoice in the Lord Always" by Purcell and "O Wailer Horner, the band. Mrs. Morning Stars So Bright." The Madrigal Singers will present organist.

Sylvan Friedman will conduct the orchestral groups and "O Wailer Horner, the band. Mrs. Morning Stars So Bright." The Madrigal Singers will present organist.

Once again with the Christmas season at hand, TOWN TOPICS takes pleasure in listing the names and addresses of men and women from the Princeton area serving with the U.S. armed forces and Red Cross units in Vietnam.
 Far from home and their families during the holidays, they would enjoy a card or letter from everyone who will take the time to send a word of greeting. The mailing cost is just 8c, the price of a domestic air mail stamp. Those knowing someone in Vietnam, who is not listed, are invited to send in his name, rank, serial number and address to TOWN TOPICS, P.O. Box 664, by Monday.

 Board attacking the special permit it issued this fall at showing E. R. Squibb and Sons to build an administrative research complex on Route 206 and Province Line Road.
 David Deitz, attorney for the citizens' group, said the suit would probably be filed this Thursday. He said it would challenge the board's action on awarding the permit, plus an alleged "unconstitutional" move by Lawrence officials which gave zoning authority to the planning board.
 Mr. Deitz also said that some residents living within 200 feet of the proposed complex received "improper" notification of the public meeting. The four, who own property within 200 feet of the site, are Mr. and Mrs. John W. Aker Jr., Carson Road; and Mr. and Mrs. Julian J. Maginnan, Lawrenceville Road.
 In addition to members of the zoning board, the new suit will list the Lawrence Town Board, Building Inspector Mark Carmele, and E. R. Squibb. The initial suit filed by Mr. Deitz in September for the NCTA challenges the validity of the zoning amendment and charges there was a conflict of interest among Lawrence officials. It was combined with a similar suit filed by Princeton Township Superior Court Judge George Barlow is expected to announce a hearing date later this week on the conflict of Next Thursday, December 14, speakers in the lecture series will be Dr. Morris Gelfand of Queens College, who will discuss at 8, "The Changing Face of Education in Thailand and Burma," and Professor Willard Thorp, literary historian at Princeton, whose 9 p.m. lecture will conclude the American Scene series.

PRETTY BUT SLIPPERY

And First Snow Goes Quakely. Monumental traffic jams dotted the entire Princeton area Thursday as the last day of November brought a November rarity—six inches of snow.

It whitened the bleak fall landscape in picturesque fashion but raised considerable hob with several thousand homeward bound motorists. Most of them eventually made it safely, well behind normal schedule, but some roads were dotted with cars that had been abandoned or had slipped into a ditch. No accidents involving injuries were reported.

Many a principal highway was at times completely blocked. Traffic on State Road 206 was at a virtual standstill as early as 12:30, less than an hour and a half after the first flakes began to fall. At 4:15, cars trying to climb the steep Bruer's Hill on the Princeton-Lawrenceville Road were having so much difficulty that the line extended all the way to the intersection of Princeton Street and Bayard Lane.

Roseade, Carter, Alexander, Washington, Harrison—virtually every road with any degree of incline—were a major source of delay for several hours, with traffic generally so dense that sanding by municipal and state highway trucks was impossible. Rather than wait until the last minute early Friday morning, officials at the Princeton Regional and Princeton Day Schools called off classes Thursday night.

The snow melted partially Friday and Saturday, disappearing almost completely when a degree of temperature and an inch of rain arrived simultaneously on Sunday. Had it been 20 degrees warmer, it would have been accompanied by a foot of snow.

CAR STRIKES STUDENT

Walking on Alexander Street, Miao, 21, 1915 Hall, Princeton University, received a mild concussion and a concussion of the left leg when he was struck by a car while walking on lower Alexander Street at 6:15 Saturday evening. He was treated at Princeton Hospital.

The mishap took place near the entrance to the Grover Lumber Company. The driver, Anthony Sando, 21, 265 Witherspoon Street, told Township Patrolman David Wilbur that he had just dimmed his lights for an approaching car and did not see Mr. Mao walking with the traffic on the right side of the road. Pat. Wilbur said that the victim was wearing dark blue trousers and a black coat and hat. At the moment of impact he was in a dark area between two street lights. There were no charges.

The same day at 12:48 p.m.

a mother and her daughter received minor injuries when their parked car was bumped by a driverless car.

Mrs. Mary A. Warzak, 38, 218 Ingleside Avenue, Pennington, refused medical treatment for a bump on the head. Her daughter, Mary, 8, refused treatment for a eye abrasion.

The accident occurred soon after Garrett D. Bush, 55, of Belle Mead stalled his car at the intersection of Nassau and Vandewater. With the aid of a

Is "Winne the Pooh" Safe?
To the Editor of Town Topics:

As a taxpayer, I was by turns amused and appalled by the three letters from other taxpayers in Town Topics (Nov. 30), written to the Editor to protest the display of books about Russia in the showcase window of the new Public Library.

So the suppressors are at work almost as soon as our handsome new building opens its doors. What would the suppressors suggest? That the Library own no books about Russia written since the days of the benevolent Czarist regime?

That it own a very few books about Soviet Russia but keep them under the counter, to be passed out only to citizens certified to be uncorruptible? That the Library put in its window nothing more "controversial" than "Winne the Pooh"?

One of the taxpayers asserted that the Library celebrated "50 years of evil" by its display of books about malnutrition or about cancer, likewise "celebrate" there evils?

What must a citizen do? Shall I burn my small collection of books about Russian life and literature? Or shall I risk giving them to the Public Library?

WILLARD THORP

"Patriotism Gone Blind."

To the Editor of Town Topics:
The caption - cluttered letters which appeared in your November 30 issue, attacking the Public Library's window display of materials on Russia and the 1917 revolution, make one wonder gloomily about the intellectual maturity of American adults.

Communist Russia is a fact of life and cannot be ignored. Fifty years' existence of a nation and government which wield enormous influence in the world is also a fact of life, and to ignore it would be childish folly. If the Russians are "our mortal enemies" (as one writer states), we should be foolish not to learn all we can about them.

If the years 1917-1967 in Russia have indeed been (to quote another writer) "50 years of evil existence," it behooves all Americans to acquaint themselves with the verifying facts. Very few of us are as well informed as the letter-writer apparently is.

To call the Library's window display a "joyous celebration" of the Bolshevik Revolution is utterly naive. And to shy away from anything that encourages serious study of Russia on the ground that they are "the enemy" seems to me to be patriotism gone blind.

HERBERT MANNEN
57 Crocker Avenue

Library's Display Praised.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
If Communism - books and displays, it will be a sad "devil, when in the United States we are prevented from knowing about our world. Suppression of information and knowledge of other parts of the world is a Communist trait.

The public library staff should be commended for open display and open stacks, albeit rather startling, so we and our children can know the pros and cons of Communism, Fascism, Federalism, and any other "ism" that may come along.

As veterans of World War II who fought for democracy and freedom, we will have no part in efforts to "burn books" as Hitler and Stalin did. Let us not be frightened to know.

JANE & OSCAR SUESSMAN
State Road.

Beware the Indians, Too.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
If protests against the Public Library's recent display of materials on the Russian Revolution in any way imply a restriction of the Library's freedom of acquisition and display of books, including books out of favor with local or national opinion, then one must protest in return. Once that camel gets his nose in the tent, he doesn't politely withdraw.

And the arguments and counter-arguments can go on indefinitely: if it is an insult to American citizens to display books about Russian Communism, then one is presumably not free either to display books about American Indians, since American soldiers died at their hands too. Or is the difference that we were successful in subduing the Indians (and in continuing to hold them in subjection)?

If books about "menaces" can't be displayed, then presumably we shall have no displays on American involvement in Vietnam or on the overbearing one - human pre-creativity, etc. etc. Wearily, another taxpayer.

Send Puzzles to Viet Nam.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Over the past ten months I have sent more than 100 jig-saw puzzles to troops in Viet Nam at the request of Mrs. Charles W. Caldwell of Princeton, who is working there in the China Beach USO.

I have received half a dozen "thank you's" from servicemen who have found pleasure and relaxation in the puzzles, and feel the letter that follows is one of the best.

Anyone with puzzles to donate should bring them to my home, 36 Mercer Street or call 954-3375 for pick-up. Contributions of money to pay postage are also welcome. The government sends them free from San Francisco, but the puzzles must be sent there first. Only cardboard puzzles, please - wooden ones are too heavy.

VIRGINIA MORGAN
36 Mercer Street

The letter follows:

Dear Mrs. Morgan:

This letter is to assure you that your puzzles have arrived in Viet Nam and are being delivered to the troops in the field.

We pick up the packages sent to the China Beach USO and return them to our ready room where the pilots bundle and tape them. These bundles are in turn "chopped" by our small spotter planes to outposts on the way to the operating area, or even in some cases on special drop flights. Your puzzles are a bound for such places as Con Thien, Gio Lanh, Phu Bia, or some other isolated position.

These troopers who are separated from all the nice things in life will have their loneliness and boredom reduced by your act of unselfishness. I assure you, all packages are delivered and contrary to what you might believe, the packages don't hurt. Out of all we've chopped, we've only had ONE package failure. We're more fearful of one of the guys trying to catch the parcels prior to ground contact.

You've undoubtedly made some troopers in the field a little happier with a different sort of "incoming."

Thank you again - we have a happy Holiday Season and be careful on the highways. God bless you . . .

 passerby, Mr. Bush started to push his car onto Vandewater, but when Mr. Bush slipped and fell to the pavement, his car began to roll down the slight incline at the foot of Vandewater into the parked Waznack car. Sgt. Arthur Gallan, the investigating officer for the Borough, made no charges.

Three Cars Collide. An icy spot on Hedge Road near the intersection of Lafayette triggered a three-car collision Saturday evening at 7.
 Thomas J. Tindall, 17, 2633 Pennington Road, Pennington, skidded across Hedge into the path of a Volkswagen driven by Alicia Chittenden, 28, of Trenton. Edward Dempsey, 37, 111 Washington Crossing Road, Pennington, driving behind the Chittenden car, was unable to stop in time.

Two passengers in the Chittenden car, Mrs. Richard LaDene, 17, 2633 Pennington Road, and Richard M. LaDene, age 1, received minor injuries. There were no witnesses to the crash, as no witnesses are listed by P.J. James Bloor.

Thursday's snowfall, which turned the area's roads into slippery stretches of snow and ice caused five skidding accidents in the Borough and three in the Township. There were no injuries beyond a few bumps and bruises.

NEW DRAFT RULE SOUGHT

By Seminary Action. Three Princeton Seminary students mailed their deferred status draft cards to the Justice Department Monday evening following a worship service in Miller Chapel.

"We are our draft boards taking some kind of action, either reclassification or try to induct us," Larry K. Trettin, a senior from San Francisco, said on Tuesday. "We want a special I-A. We might go to court to attempt to bring a Selective Service provision for selective conscription objection."

Joining him in the protest are James Crawford, a mid-dier (sophomore) from New Rochelle, N. Y., and Richard Kullner, a senior from Woodbridge.

After the service, a fourth student, Thomas Crenshaw of Waterbury, N. Y., turned his draft card in, joining the protest. He is student athletic director at the Seminary.

Participants in the service included Professors Charles West, Daniel Migliore and M. Richard Shaul of the Seminary faculty and David C. Myer, student council president.

Service Draws 200. About 200 persons, most of them students, attended the service, which consisted of a litany for peace, hymns and Bible reading. Mr. Trettin, director of the Princeton Pastors' Association, led the service.

VIETNAM PROTEST: "In this conflict the government has told us we must be willing to kill in order to serve her — no matter what our conscience says. We cannot and we will not. Now will we hide behind a deferment," was the statement this week of Princeton Seminary students (from left) James Crawford, Larry E. comping himself as a guttural. A "Statement of Complicity" has been signed by approximately 40 members of the Seminary, including a sprinkling of faculty members.

According to Mr. Trettin, "They are making themselves liable for the same penalty."

The student council passed a "Freedom of Conscience" resolution on November 28, affirming "the right to these members of our community to act in accordance with their personal convictions." It also pledged fund raising support for legal counsel.

The three protesters had several talks with Seminary President James I. McGord prior to Monday evening, according to Mr. Trettin. "He asked us not to turn in our cards in the context of the service. We consented to this in respect to his position, and to him as an individual."

Dr. McGord, Mr. Trettin said, "records our right as individuals to stand up with our conscience, yet he can't sanction the act as something that everyone should do."

More than 100 seminary students and a significantly larger number of college students in their draft cards as conscientious objectors, according to Mr. Trettin. "Several have been reclassified I-A in accordance to the Her they name to the draft

FINDS PURSE

Pays His Own Reward. Virtue may be its own reward but "honesty" was worth $50 to the man who found a purse lost by Mrs. Sylvan E. Forman.

Mrs. Forman of Darrah Lane, Lawrence Township, told Borough police that she had been visiting her husband at Princeton Hospital last week when she returned to her car and discovered her purse was missing. She told police she was not sure whether it had been taken from her car or whether she had left it in the hospital.

Later the same evening, she continued, a man called her to tell her that her purse was in a paper bag on her front lawn. Before hanging up, he told her that he had kept its cash content of $60 as a reward for finding it. Police said that everything else in the purse was well intact.

Another missing purse victim was Miss Katherine T. Morris, 32 Chambers Street. While shopping on Saturday, Miss Morris told police she had just seen her red canvas purse in the Nevius Voorhes Store, 139 Nassau Street.

It contained $84.44. "Someone must have snatched it up," said Chief Peter J. McCarroll.

In two later theft reports received by the police from students at Princeton Seminary, James Terons listed a $35 radio stolen from his room in Brown Hall, and John Rogers reported a brown suit valued at $70 taken from a laundry room in the basement of Hedgie Hall. Both thefts took place last month.

last week that youths have been shooting .22 caliber bullets at insulators atop Public Service poles.

The target practice has occurred in the area of Drakes Corner Road and Province Line Road. Police said that youths have also been shooting at the windows of earth-moving equipment at the municipal dump on River Road.

ZONERS TO TRY AGAIN

On Thursday, the November meeting of the Borough Zoning Board, held over one week because of Thanksgiving and then postponed again a week later because of last week's snowfall, will try again.
The Board will meet Thursday evening at 8 in the new Borough Hall, 31 Stockton Street.

WINTER "FRENCH MARKET." Spring and fall are the traditional seasons for the weekly French market across from TOWN TOPICS, but a special sale of bulbs, plants and wreaths will be held there next Thursday. Proceeds will be used to landscape the Borough-owned "Island" surrounded by Nassau, University Place and Mercer where the plants are sold. Planting bulbs for the sale are (left to against a student earlier this year because it's going to put fall has submitted his resignation.

The teacher's name was not revealed by the Princeton Regional School Board, but it was on the November agenda among the names of teachers who are resigning from the school system for one reason or another.

ON TO LIBRARY

For Westminster, The 80,000-book library planned for the center of the Westminster Choir College campus was approved Tuesday night by the Borough Planning Board for a special permit, and will now go back to the Zoning Board for final approval.
Westminster needs one special permit because the college is in a residential zone and another because it's going to put two main buildings — the library and the new dormitory — on the same parcel of land.

James T. Richmond, representing Westminster, told the Board that the new library would serve an eventual student population of 500. The college has now 365 students and a library of 15,000 volumes in a converted barracks.

The new library will be a square contemporary structure, made of brick, like the rest of the campus buildings.

STATE HALTS SIX

Under Speeds, Pink Laws.
Six Princeton area drivers have had their licenses suspended by the Division of Motor Vehicles.

Halted for exceeding the point limit are Perry W. Lutz, J., Highway 27, 46 months;
Harry Alonzo, 22, 270 State Road, two months; and Ruth, 26, 106 Lawrenceville Pennington Road, 60 days; and Walter J. Paulowski, 23, of Cranbury, three months.

Speeders are Daniel A. Comfort, 18, Snyderdew Road, Hopewell, and John H. Gerath, 28, Titus Mill Road, Pennington. Each lost his license for 30 days.

TO ENLARGE PARK

At Princeton Battlefield, Two 12-acre additions to Princeton Battlefield Park were approved last week by the Delaware Valley Regional Planning Commission.

The request for approval came from the New Jersey Department of Conservation and Economic Development, and the acquisitions would be made with federal funds under the federal open space program.

One of the parcels is the 11.1 acres of "Drumhackett," the stately, white-columned house that faces Stockton Street and was bought by the state from A. N. Spanel. "Drumhackett" acreage extends back from Stockton, and is separated from the Grecian columns of the north side of Battlefield Park by Greenhouse Drive and several homes.

According to Joseph Trun-coper, acting director of the Division of Parks and Conservation of the Conservation department, the second 12 acres is not a parcel at all, but merely a departmental estimate of the amount of land that could make a more or less continuous park from the Friends' Meeting House to "Drumhackett."

BOOKS TO READ
 And here. We have written elsewhere directions for growing a garden in an egg-shell.
 This book, "The Cub Book" at the University Store, is a child's delight, loaded with puzzles, games and what they used to call pas-sa-times.

For example. There are lots of ways to use newspapers, like making jump ropes and punching bags out of them, and building muscles while you keep up with the news.
 Try and let Daddy read the paper before you make a jump-roped out of it, OK?

Origami is still with us, in Florence Sakade's book at the University store. We like the lousiest craft in origami, they're good luck. Book is $4.95.

When is magic not magic?
 "The Art of Magic" by Douglas and Karl Hunt may give you a clue. $4.95.

Paperbacks of Doctor Doo-Book come in a set of four for $3.85. (Zoo, circus, post office, voyages — you know.) Another set is "Scary Scary's Golden Go-Go Library," with its little books on planes, car, trains and boats for $3.95.

Mr. Scary is a favorite at Male's Book Shop, too. At Male's they like his "Stoney-book Dictionary," and his regular dictionary.

Paperbacks for young readers are a specialty at Male's, and you can even buy a paperback for four-year olds — how about the Weatherbe "The Lonesome Bear?"

Shivers. For $1.25, there are delectable Hardy Boys books and Male's now has eight titles in the $1.95 Alfred Hitchcock series, and four or five in the $3.95. Titles? "Monster Museum," "Smiler Tales," — how to keep a baby-sitter scared speechless.

Stories from Boys' Life and American Girl, on dogs and horses and sports and mysterous happenings, have been gathered into anthologies for Male customers.

Horses? Marguerite Henry still sells her "King of the Wind," and "Misty" and "Stormy" for all the horsey little girls who browse the Male shop.

Teen paperbacks at Male's are inexpensive and popular, and frequently quite adult.
 "Two on the Town," for example, is a teen paperback that tells what unhappiness follows an unmarried pregnancy.

University Store bows to the teens, too, with the Seventeen Book of Fashion and Beauty.
 It's $7.95.

Christmas Shopping Bag?
 Yes, but with a difference. It's the most practical Christmas shopping bag we've ever seen, and you can buy it at Stuff 'n' Nonsense.

Why practical? Because it's made especially to take along when you go to Grandma's house on Christmas Day. To bring some of the loot in, kid!

It's very, very deep—maybe even bigger than some who will be carrying it—and it's decorated very nicely in the highest Christmas color and designs. Paper, of course, but durable as all get out,
 to handle all the weight,
 you know.

Like "trick or treat,"
 isn't it?

TO WEAR . . .
 With blue. Well, no child ever squealed over a pair of grey mittens, but there are some bright and happy clothes to give a young friend this Christmas.

You might start with the Dunham Tyrolean boots at Hults. Ankle-height hide, they are built for sizes 6½ to 3, with cushion-ribbed soles, all furry, ankle high and lined with the white waterproof vinyl, calf-height, is lined with fleece, in small sizes 10-4.

And try Castle Bootery for bright little slippers on a Cinderella foot, or those snow-high boots for young trampers.

Let's go to a Party. Party-charming variations on the velvet and lace theme. One is a royal blue shift with white

For a change, there's a willike a cotton school tie. The orlons are all washable, by

Our favorite Christmas parsnaky gold handle, $3. Our favorite present is the white fur muff — it's either erminey rabbit or rabbit-ermine and it has a hat to match.

Boys at Allen's want those wide wide leather or suede belts. Nice enough for Daddy to borrow if he loses a little weight.

Red strawberries embellish a white understrapped helmet of hand-knit wool at the your needlepoint yarn. You embroider the flowers just like painting with numbers. As turning you know how to do needlepoint.

No matter, but just to give or to cherish if you're lucky enough to get one — a mo-hair throw, from a friend in misty tones of blue mauve, yellow gold, or green green. It's 48 by 72 inches and softer than your heart.

A SONG FOR CHRISTMAS
Ah, kids. Music-lovers who buy for other music-lovers this Christmas have a range of choice.

How about "The Miracle" greatest hits, a two-record set with 22 hit songs, including "Mama, Don't Tell Me," "Mickey's Monkey," "I Like It Like that" — you know.

Then, there's the stereo album from "Dr. Doollittle" film, with Rex Harrison as the Dr., for $44.95 and an album of exercises "Keep Fit, Be Happy" in High Fidelity with directions and music and practically no calories.

All these at the University Store along with Dylan Thomas' "A Child's Christmas in Wales," read by Dylan, Ronald Colman as Scrooge in "A Christmas Carol," and Charles Laughton telling "Mr. Pickwick's Christmas" are on a single record. Basil Rathbone does the Christmas Carol on another, with carols by the Lyn Murray Singers, $1.89.

Twentieth century music pours forth from the Princeton Music Center on Palmer Square. They suggest the Columbia series "Music of Our Time," which includes some of Milton Babbitt's electronic music.

Two new Handel operas, "Hercules" and "Julius Caesar" are now ready for Music Center customers.

For the young, the Center suggests 4:55 p.m.s. at a new low of 70¢, with such as Fresh Cream, Janice Ian, Phil Ochs and so on.

FOR READERS
Speedy or Slow. In the book departments this year, we'll skip most of the best-sellers you'll probably be buying anyway and pick out a few others.

Male's book shop enjoys biographies and stacks up the ones of Pulitzer, Sarah Bernhardt, Nicholas and Alexandra

Peanuts! Good Grief

Thought last year was a "Peanuts" and "Charlie Brown" Christmas, didn't you? Well, 1967 looks like the vintage year of all vintage years. The only "Peanuts" character you won't find is a stuffed model of Charles Schulz carving away at his royalties.

At Stuff 'n' Nonsense, there are eight-inch stuffed dolls of Charlie Brown, Linus, Lucy and Snoopy and an authentic reproduction of Snoopy's doghouse.

Bamberger's has banners, pillows and sweatshirts with appropriate quotations from all the classics and books and pencil cases.

Male's Book Shop sells "Peanuts" in hard and soft covers all year 'round to all ages, sizes and breeds. People love them up like — well, like peanuts.

But the real slam-bang ball-game is at Hunkin's where, in a kind of fatalism, they've simply turned over a whole wall to Charlie and his friends.

Here in one long sweep, you'll find sweatshirts, stuffed Snoopys like that nice one you mean to buy last year, and didn't, bulletin-board cut-outs, banners, greeting cards — well, you get the idea.

Where, or even when, will it all end? They believe at Hunkin's that it will never end at all because the appeal is so ageless and so universal that whole generations will just keep coming on and on. Good grief!

— and maybe even you. It's $12.98.

Just for fun, University Store flips open Peter Arno's "Lady in the Shower," his first cartoon collection in ten years, and just for nostalgia enters a pleasant book back with Allen Churchill's "Remember When," — 1900 to 1942.

And for sheer mystery, solved, why not paperback of "Stonehenge Decoded"? Male's likes to tell as that the gift of a paperback is nicer than just a Christmas card.

Here are two handsome volumes of cookery from Myra Waldo's kitchen, and another beautiful domestic book, "Oriental Hugs," at only $2.95. This is a constant best-seller at Male's for some reason — of the shop reports sales of more than 500 copies over the years.

In the book department of the University Store, they display "Princeton Architecture," by Constance Greiff and Mary Gibbons, with photographs by Elizabeth G. C. Menzies, sure, a book that will go into every Princeton home this Christmas.

Another is "Lullabies of the World," by Dorothy Berliner Commins, who remarks, "Lullabies are love songs, sometimes gay, sometimes sad . . . There are 142 in this collection."

The House and Garden Cook Book has elegant, but uncomplicated recipes from Julia Child, James A. Beard, Diane Lucas, Craig Claiborne

FOUR WHO SERVED THE PENNS NECK SCHOOL: After serving the children of Penns Neck for 50 years, the Penns Neck School was phased out of existence last week as the 75 pupils were transferred to the new Maurice Hawk School. A brief ceremony was held in the cafeteria honoring (from left) Miss Georgianne Hauck, teacher and principal for 41 years; Miss Cecilia Erickson, teacher from 1923 to 1950; Frank Walton, superintendent of the school system; and Mrs. Ann McHugh, present head teacher. (Staff photo)

DOORS CLOSED FOREVER
At Penns Neck School, the Penns Neck School, built 36 years ago on Route One near Alexander Street, has closed its doors forever. Its 75 students began going to the new Maurice Hawk School in Princeton Junction on Monday. The two-story brick building served students since 1917; a cafeteria was added in the mid-1950s. Except for a delay in the construction of the Hawk school, the building would not have opened at this fall.

At a small ceremony Thursday in the cafeteria, members of the West Windsor PTA served a special dessert to the students and staff who had served for their long service. Mrs. Ann McHugh, principal, and Miss Cecilia Erickson of Dayton, the two oldest teachers at the school. Miss Hauck was both principal and teacher at the school for 41 years before retiring in 1964. In honor of her many years there, the school was often referred to as the "Miss Hauck School."

Retiring in 1960, Miss Erickson had spent 37 years teaching at the school. She had cared for many of the operations that marked the students' graduation from eighth grade during her years there. For about 45 years the school had all grades from kindergarten through eighth grade, and in five years ago it was reduced to an elementary school serving children only through third grade. Today, the future is somewhat in doubt. A year ago, the West Wind Township school board decided to sell the building, but then had second thoughts on the subject and the school has never been put on the market. According to Board President Bradford Craig, the final decision is awaiting a report on a study presently in progress on the future needs of the township's school system.

"TELLING COMPUTERS"
Junior Lecture Set, "Telling Computers What To Do" will be the free Christmas lecture this year for the Princeton Junior Museum. This, the Museum's Christmas lecture for school children, will be given on Thursday, December 14 in Frick auditorium on the University campus at a time during the school day to be announced. Dr. Hale Trotter of the mathematics department at the University and associate director of the computing center, will speak.

Computing facilities of different types at the University for guided tours during the Christmas vacation week under Junior Museum auspices and places in the tour may be reserved for children ten years old and older, by calling 925-2940.

Princeton's Junior Museum is homeless this year — it was housed in the old Borough Hall — but is offering a 1967 program anyway, with a full schedule of workshops, exhibits, demonstrations, field trips and lectures, located appropriately around town.

The theme of the year will be "Communications and Computers," and the Museum will join with the Princeton High School Computer Club which uses the University's computing center.

In a January series of Saturday morning workshops, fourth and fifth graders will learn to make electronic devices. In February, the Museum will build working displays of communications equipment, going back to the first commercial telephones, and continuing to the latest real time computing machine systems. The exhibit will tour classrooms.

Registrations forms for all workshops and field trips may still be obtained by writing to the Princeton Junior Museum, Borough Hall, indicating what kind of activity you are interested in. All children are eligible.

TUTION IS RAISED
At Princeton University, the trustees of Princeton University have authorized a $700 increase in undergraduate tuition to a new level of $2,150. Graduate tuition fees will also be raised to help offset the costs of graduate education from the present level of $1,950 to $2,250. The move, for the first time in the history of the University, leaves graduate students paying more for their education than undergraduates. On both levels, tuition fees still represent only about half the cost of a student's education with the rest coming from alumni gifts.

University President Robert P. Goheen, announcing the increase, "directly reflect the accelerating costs of outstanding teaching. Princeton tries all ways to have the strength and vigor of first-line scholars in its instructional program, and this program consists in large part of close student-faculty interaction on both the undergraduate and graduate levels."

The University will attempt to offset the impact of the tuition increase on the budgets of students already on scholarships. Financial assistance programs, ranging from scholarships to loans to student employment, will be stepped up to benefit both graduate and undergraduate students.

after the Geneva Conference of 1954. In 1960 he sought to win popular support for the Diem government by being in the establishment of the American Friends of Vietnam.

In the succeeding years Mr. Buttinger grew disillusioned with Diem's efforts to create a democratic state in South Vietnam. In 1962 he resigned from the Friends. Friday evening he will draw on his experience to suggest a viable alternative to the current situation in the Southeast Asian land.

Mr. Buttinger is a naturalized American citizen who was born in Austria, where, until his emigration to the United States during World War II, he played an active role as a leader of the Austrian resistance to the Nazi occupation. He is the author of two Vietnam manuals: "The Smaller Dragon" and "Vietnam: A Dragon Embattled."

FILM SCHEDULED

On Negro Civil Rights. The Princeton Association for Human Rights will examine divergent views on the race question in America Monday, December 11, at 8 in the Witherspoon School auditorium at a showing of the film, "The Way It Is." The reputation of the film rests on its controversial broadcast on television in Chicago as part of a Public Broadcast Laboratory program.

"The Way It Is" features a discussion of civil rights by a hundred people chosen for their wide range of viewpoints — running from segregationist to black nationalist. It acquaints the viewer with a number of positions on the Negro's problem and then offers a comment by a psychiatrist on the possible viability of such a group confrontation. The public is invited free of charge to the showing of the film.

EXPERT TO SPEAK

On Vietnam Problem. Joseph Buttinger, former advisor to the late President Ngo Dinh Diem of South Vietnam, will speak at Princeton University Friday under the auspices of the Faculty Council on Vietnam. The speech, entitled "The Impact of the Vietnam Situation Based on Some Historical Lessons," will be given at 8 in the McCook Hall. Mr. Buttinger's first experience in Vietnam came 13 years ago when he led a mission to aid refugees who had fled to Saigon from the north.

To Play Saffran Work

Arno Saffran's Sonata for piano, subtitled "The Twentieth Century" is being performed for the first time this Wednesday in Philadelphia by a young Levittown pianist.

Mr. Saffran, music critic for TOWN TOPICS, completed the sonata last year. He describes its three movements as "full of contrast, change and turbulence. It is a tense work."

The pianist, 18, is Norma Weintraub, a senior at the Philadelphia Music academy, and it is there that the performance is to be given. Miss Weintraub has played with the Philadelphia Orchestra and the Worcester, Mass., symphony orchestra.

Cranbury, November 29; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Sankil, Sunset Road, Skillman, November 30; Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Barnard, 7 Quaker Road, and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Mizenko, Windsor Castle Apartments, Cranbury; and Mrs. Dennis E. Whitney, Windsor Fernview Road, Hightstown, and Mr. and Mrs. Joe E. Jones, 29 Atira Road, Hightstown, all on December 2.

MAIL EARLY!
For Fast Postal Service, Postmaster John L. Dilworth cautions Princeton residents to mail early in the day as well as early in the Christmas season. According to the Princeton postal supervisor, mail delivery will be expedited in the morning has the best chance for immediate pickup.

Often there is only one collection per day for distant points. Making that connection could mean a delay of up to a day in the delivery of letters Postal patrons are urged to avoid the noon rush in the postal service windows.

PECANS ON SALE

To Benefit South, Mr. and Mrs. Eric Scott, 27 Nassau Street, Princeton, N.J., are selling pecans, fruit cakes and pecan tarts to raise money for Operation Freedom and Koinonia. The pecan producers products are only reasonably priced but are available in small quantities.

Operation Freedom is an organization that was founded in 1961 to help Negroes being persecuted because of their attempts to vote. It has since expanded to loaning impeded sharecroppers money with which to buy land and seeds.

Koinonia is a southwest Georgia community that is turned to selling pecans to weather violence and local acceptance of a Negro farmer as a member of the community.

HUN ADOPTS CHILD

In Hong Kong, The Student Council of the Hun School has formally adopted a 10-year-old Chinese girl in Hong Kong. Participating in Foster Parents Plan, the Hun students will send $15 a month to Yum Pui Lin to provide for her clothing and education.

More than 30 years of experience has shown administrators of Foster Parents' Plan that a child cannot be helped without helping the entire family. Not only are special clinics available to the foster child, but her family has a family guidance and counseling plan also made available to the child's parents.

PUPILS TO TRAVEL

To United Nations, Fourth graders at Riverside School plan to meet Ralph Bunche, under-secretary of the United Nations, on Tuesday, December 12, prior to a tour of the U.N.'s New York headquarters. They will be Mrs. Alice Packard, Riverside principal; Mrs. Ruth Popofsky and Miss Carol Champion, teachers and six parents.

The 27 students have drawn up a list of questions to ask Mr. Bunche as part of their current school project, "What current school project, 'What is an American?' Miss Popofsky hopes the children will have a chance to interview other outstanding Americans—perhaps painter Andrew Wyeth and composer Leonard Bernstein.

TUITION RAISED

By Choir College, Dr. Lee H. Bristol Jr., president of Westminster Choir College, has announced a $300 increase in tuition for the first year of the 1968-69 academic year.

Tuition will be raised from $1650 to $1950, room fees from $200 to $400 and board from $650 to $900. The combined college student costs will total $3600.

Speaking before the student body this week, Dr. Bristol said that the Choir College will have to raise approximately $100,000 above the student tuition and fees. "To effect," he said, "even if every student paid the full fees, he would be receiving the equivalent of a $300 scholarship."

The last change in college fees was three years ago. Rising costs through the intervening years have necessitated the new rates, Dr. Bristol said.

FLAGS TO BE USED

On Institute Fund. In the interest of preventing accidents this winter at the small pond located on the property of the Institute for Advanced Study, one of two flags will be displayed so that nearby residents can determine whether the ice is safe for skating.

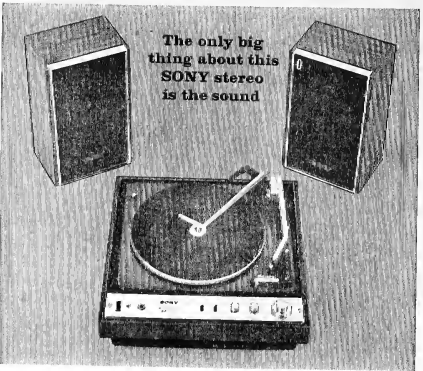

A red flag will be placed at the northeast corner of the pond at all times when the ice is unsafe, and a white flag will replace it when the ice is thick enough for skating or coasting.

Minot C. Morgan Jr., general manager of the Institute said that in normal winters the ice is seldom thick enough to bear the weight of an adult or even a child. Unqualified

SONY Compact All Silicon Solid State Stereo

Short on space? That's no reason why your next stereo system has to be short on quality. Because Sony makes a compact disc stereo music system that rivals the bigger, more elaborate ones: the HP-150. It includes A-20 amplifier-granplifier with 17 advanced all-silicon transistors, a 4-speed automatic Garrard turntable, a sensitive Pickering magnetic cartridge and two bookshelf-size speakers. Accords an FM tuner and takes every type of tape input. Sony engineers designed a concert hall sound reproduction. Cabinet (only 15" wide) finished in walnut with brushed aluminum trim. Speakers are oiled walnut. Great little system! $179.95

ART In Princeton

THREE MUSEUM SHOWS
Pre-Columbian Art. A new course in Pre-Columbian Art and Archeology has been instituted this year at Princeton University under the direction of Michael Coe of the Yale Department of Anthropology. In conjunction, the University has arranged in the Art Museum a show of original material from an exhibition of the Pre-Columbian and Primitive Art with a generous loan of exhibits from the private collections of Gifflet Griffin, Curator of Pre-Columbian Art at the Museum, and of J. Lounsbury Davis of Princeton.

These three sources have provided a show which has balance, interest and a fund of historical knowledge for student and casual observer alike. Moreover, it is arranged attractively and comprehensively.

Gifflet Griffin. The individual almost entirely responsible for the manner of the show is Gifflet Griffin who has been deeply involved in the life of the Art Department of Princeton for 15 years. As a graduate of Yale with a B.F.A., he came directly to Princeton to become Curator of Graphic Arts. Over the years we remember a series of exhibitions in Princeton Library, challenging, interesting, amusing and always indicative of the scholarly interest and artistic sense of rare and unusual clay cylinders which lay behind them. Several seals which a friend has not shown which stand out in collected, and next year he or her minds, and his, are the hopes to work with co-author Rubenstein from Early New on an archeological guide to England Gravestones by Ann Mexico. During this winter's Parker and Avon Neal, one session of the Adult School he that was full of surprises and which up her heels and away she went? There was what Griffin refers to as the Big Show which he and Alfred the Museum, the special character of which are better seen than described. If we were to pick out a few which are most interesting to us, we must mention the beautiful jades of varying intensities, the appalling and intricately modeled figurines from Juina which were made often in the form of a whistle between 600 and 800 A.D.

There is a special vitality in the figures of Dwarves who his own painting. In a recent Alumni Weekly, he told of last Mayan and real warmth to the year's exploration with Carlo bowls with traces of red pig-

FROM OAXACA, CIRCA 500. This Zapotec incense burner comes from Oaxaca, Mexico, and was made about 1,500 years ago. It is part of the pre-Columbian art collection of Gifflet Griffin and is now on view at the Princeton Art Museum.

T. E. Gray of a Mexican cave which they identified for the first time the oldest paintings ever seen in the New World and dated between 800 and 400 B.C.

This next month he will return to Mexico for a few weeks to continue rolling out prints of an opening night, the comment of an opening night, who saw in them "a great deal of skill and an equal amount of urgency."

DURER PRINTS. The Gallery of Prints and Drawings in the Art Museum is somewhat hard to find, tucked away as it is on the second floor, but it's worth one's while to ask directions or to consult the Museum map, for in this small gallery can be found most rewarding exhibits. A case in point is the show of Albrecht Durer woodcuts, etchings and engravings which come from a fine Princeton collection supplemented by some rare exhibits from other galleries and private collections. Primarily the Durers are shown to correspond to a current course but for any person who looks to see excellence in draftsmanship and an abundance of vitality, these prints are a delight to study and enjoy.

There are prints in different styles. A "Knotwork Design" in woodcut is just that, concise and quite perfect design. A woodcut done in the artist's youth, c. 1482, is an illustration with an extraordinarily full feeling of thrust in birds scared flight.

Strongest drawing described the turbulence and excitement of the Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse. Who can draw horses with such vigor as Durer? They are real characters, sleek and handsome, bursting with energy. On another hand, he was able to draw with poignance in scale a Nativity scene and with tenderness a young peasant and his wife, a St. Anthony in utmost refinement.

As special interest feature, there is an exhibition one of Durer's original wood-blocks, lent by Alexander P. Morgan, with its original proof print on loan from the Resenwald Collection of the National Gallery of Art. From this show comes the realization that Durer was no limit to his mastery, imagination and ability to communicate.

19th Century Drawings. In the main gallery of the Museum, starting December 5 and running to January 28, there will be an exhibition of drawings of the 19th century from the permanent collection of the Princeton Art Museum. Museum hours are Tuesdays through Saturdays, 10 to 4 and on Sundays 2 to 4.

EXHIBITION TO OPEN
At Studio on the Canal. Watercolor sketches, oils and silkscreens will be included in an exhibition of paintings by Rex Gorelick, director and instructor of the Studio on the Canal. The show will open Sunday, December 10 and continue through the month from 2 to 4.

Santa Claus isn't the only one with great ideas for Christmas.
We thought up the Triline® telephone.

The Triline telephone is beautifully designed. When you pick up the handset, ten Touch-Tone® pushbuttons, which let you "dial" twice as fast, come to you. There's a new recall button, too. When you want to make a second call, don't hang up—just push the convenient recall button. The cost of a Triline phone is nominal—only pennies a day. And there's no extra charge for color.

If you want Touch-Tone service, the additional Touch-Tone charge covers all the phones on your line. Maybe you'd like to play Santa Claus with our idea. You can. To order Triline phones in either wall or table models for Christmas, just call your Telephone Business Office. Also available with standard dial in new compact design.

SPORTS In Princeton

RUTGERS HERE MONDAY
The Orange and Black will be Hamilton, N. Y. for a contest with Colgate Friday. After the game with Rutgers, a trip south will send the Tigers against Navy, North Carolina and Duke, while a post-Christmas jaunt to Portland, Ore., will mark participation in the Far West Classic. Only the January 6 televised game against Penn will find Princeton at home until Valentine's here for a big one on February 9.

For all but the last five minutes on Friday's season opener with Army, it appeared that the hustling cadets would upset the Tigers in their initial venture under Coach Pete Carril. That Princeton won, 62-59, was attributable almost entirely to two factors: a great second half performance by Captain Joe Heiser and the departure of three of Army's starters via the personal foul rule.

Down by 36-31 at the intermission, the home team was bailed out when Heiser hit for 17 points in the final 20 minutes, twice converting.

valuable one-and-one foul shots in the closing moments. Improved defensive play in the final period also aided the Tigers: Army's 50% shooting average in the first half was pared to 37, in contrast to the victor's steadier 43% in each period.

Rally Does the Trick. There were less than six minutes left when Princeton painstakingly managed to take charge. Heiser's lay-up broke a 52-all tie; with 57 seconds left, when sophomore Mike Mardy converted a pair of free throws to make it 60-52, the decision appeared to have been reached.

That the cadets cut this margin in half before the clock ran out was traceable to a couple of ill-advised shots and errant passes by the victors. After 4-8 Chris Thomford fouled out with 9:23 to go, Princeton used three sophomores (Mardy, Geoff Petrie and John

For 39 points between them—53 in the first half.

In addition to Heiser's 23, Haarlrow was in double figures with 12. Thomford made 5-8. Hummer 8 (but missing six of ten free throws); Petrie converted 7-17 and Mardy 4-10. Carril used only Mardy from the bench.

Cadets Foot Shooting Poor. Army pushed the home team from the floor, 23 to 18, but made only 13 of 25 free throws, in contrast to 28 out of 35 by the Tigers. The cadets lost Hunt, Noonan and Mike Krzyzewski from their starting five, while Captain Bill Schutsky, their top scorer, picked up three fouls in the early going and sat out most of the first half.

Hummer did a good defensive job on Schutsky, whose point total for the evening was 4. All three newcomers to the starting lineup understandably showed the pressure of their first varsity appearance.

Friday's trip to Hamilton to play Colgate—Princeton's first appearance there in many years—may give the team a fair amount of trouble. The Raiders are not among the east's best but held highly-regarded Cornell to a 92-84 margin at Ithaca and could be tough to handle on their own court.

Rutgers has lost its two backcourt stars. All-American Bob Lloyd and Joe Yelvano, who averaged some 50 points between them during a good season last year for the Scarlet, which was climaxed by a third-place finish in the NIT, it was this pair which paced Rutgers to an upset over Princeton in Dillon Gym two seasons ago. Last year's meeting at New Brunswick went to the Tigers, 97-74, as Heiser held Lloyd to 17 points (about half his normal season's average) while scoring 19 himself. Three 6-6 players, center

HOCKEY FRIDAY NIGHT

Against Northeastern. Hopeful that its defensive problems will decrease as the season grows older, Princeton's hockey team will play first third game of the season Friday night at 8 in Baker Rink, Northeastern on whose staff Coach Bill Quakenbush served as an assistant before coming here, will provide the opposition.

The Ivy season will open next week — possibly a bit prematurely. A strong Harvard team will oppose the Tigers at Cambridge, and they will remain in the Boston area for a two-day ECAC tournament that weekend. Northeastern will be the first out-of-state opponent, with Boston College and Dartmouth the other rivals.

The season opened last week with a 43 overtime loss to Colgate which was preceded by an 84 triumph over the St. Nicholas Club in an exhibition contest. Both losses ran out of gas; the Nicks were out at 4:41 with six minutes left in the final period, only to yield four Tiger goals in a space of three minutes when their undermanned defense fell apart.

Next afternoon, Princeton lost a 2-1 lead and later its share of a 3-3 tie largely because it was outplayed by a young Colgate squad. The visitors handed four shots past goalkeeper Ted Tighman largely because they are faster or bounce on a loose puck.

The early word at Baker Rink had been that if this squad got a good performance in the goal, it had the potential to achieve a good season —

PINE START: Captain Joe Heiser's solid performance against Army was largely responsible for Princeton's narrow 62-59 triumph over the cadets. The 17 points he scored in the final half were more than 50% of his team's total in that period. He was five for ten from the floor and 12 for 14 from the foul line.

one presumably on the sunny levels of the Eastern colleges, side of 500, where Princeton on their own ice, that elusive hockey has been only a couple 300 mark will continue out of times in the past 15 years, reach.

Tighman provided a stickout. Hal Trick for Perimeter, Senior Terry Peterman's three goals were a feature of the victory over the St. Nicks Friday night. The visitors had taken an early 2-0 lead on scores by Princetonians Pete and John Cook, but do not play much defense for them and goalie Godfrey Wood had more than he could handle much of the evening.

Jerry Kearney's goal at 1:18 of the final round sent Princeton ahead to stay. Peterman, John McLean and Mike Higgins all finding the mark within the next two and a half minutes. The Nicks were shorthanded because Pat and Harry Rulon Miller were attending brother Sumner's wedding, and Billy Lamarque, one-time Harvard star, got stuck with the game at 3:41 with less than six minutes to go, but Colgate needed only 1:36 of the overtime round to jam a loose puck under Tighman's goal. The fourth straight loss, a goal victory over the Tigers.

Pete Stuckey nearly emerged the hero of the affair on the strength of two goals recorded on solo dashes while his team was a man short. The second goal dashed while his team was a man short. The second goal dashed while his team was a man short. The second goal dashed while his team was a man short.

OPENER FRIDAY
For PHS Skaters. Five days before its opener with always figures to rank at the lower

High School hockey team had but one practice session under its belt. The reason for the late start, according to coach Pete Rice, was that ice at the Princeton Day School rink, where the Little Tigers practice, wasn't ready on schedule. Cook is starting his second year as coach of the PHS sextet.

Cook has lost a lot of seniors from last year's squad, including high-scoring Paul Rice, and the opener with Lawrenceville, which has been practicing for three weeks, is tantamount to a mini-match. This is standard procedure for us," said Cook. The only time Lawrenceville can get us on their schedule is early in the season."

The contest will be held at Lawrenceville's Lavino Rink, starting at 4:15.

Among those returning are Steve Housington, wings John Mueller and John Rice, line-man Hugh Fitzpatrick and defense-men John Lehmann, Jeff Delano and Mike Relch. Actually, Cook reported that not all of the candidates have accepted yet. It is too early for any kind of assessment, he said. Last season, PHS won seven and lost 10.

Fortunately, PHS will get a chance to get in that much needed ice time and practice after the Lawrenceville match. Its second game against new comer Brick Township here is listed for December 19 — 11 days later. (See page 32 and 33 for complete schedule.)

PDS ENDS UNBEATEN
In Junior Football. Judging from the unbeaten (and almost unscathed) season put together by the Princeton Day School Junior football team, there may be better years ahead for the varsity squad, which compiled a 2-6 record this fall.

If the Kaiser couldn't stop Princeton Building and Loan from opening its doors 50 years ago, certainly we couldn't be held up by 35 pairs of suspenders. Since our start in 1917 we've had that modern, up to date approach to Princeton's financial needs. Today, we're still the savings leader, paying the area's highest dividend rate to prove it. We can't claim to have modernized Princeton single-handedly, but it is a fact that only six members of the class of '18 wore suspenders. That's progress.

BRACKEN FOR HITCHNER

To lead 1968 Tiger Eleven, Rich Bracken, the second Canadian to captain a Princeton football team, was named Monday to succeed Lee Hitchner as leader of the Tiger eleven. With Brian Dowling and Vic Gatto already chosen by their teammates at Yale and Harvard, the 1968 season may be the first in which only three backs will captain the Big Three.

Bracken, a resident of Winnipeg, follows by a quarter century Dick Schmon, a native of Canada who led the Tigers in 1942. Schmon, who also played hockey here, was killed in action in World War II.

A tailback for two seasons, the new captain has been the total offense leader at Princeton for the past two seasons. A year ago, he was the first sophomore to start at tailback since Royce Flippin in 1955, today, he is the first tailback to captain a Princeton football team since Flippin in 1955.

At 6-1, 285, Bracken is the biggest man to play regularly in the position in Princeton history. "Off his form in the Yale and Dartmouth games," Dick Colman said, "he has the potential to become one of the top runners in the east next fall."

NEW MAN ON THE JOB: Rich Bracken (left) was named this week as captain of the Princeton football team to succeed Lee Hitchner, who started all 27 games in his varsity career on the defensive platoon. The familiar face in the middle is Coach Dick Colman. (Alan Richards/Photo)

Free Cup to Wayne. Bruce Wayne, the rugged defensive back who was a regular member of that platoon for the past two seasons, won the Poe Cup, awarded annually for outstanding play and sportsmanship. It is the Tigers' top football trophy.

Offensive tackle Pete Kashatus and defensive tackle Bill Gloyd shared the Caldwell Trophy, given for consistent improvement and effort. The McPhee Award for "fortitude and durability," went to Chuck Bark, a defensive end for three seasons.

THREE NAMED ALL-IVY

On AP Team. Three Princeton players placed on the All-Ivy football team selected by the Associated Press. The official team, chosen by the league coaches, will be made known next week.

Named to the offensive platoon was tackle Bruce Eckman, whose ability was evident despite the fact that he missed a fair amount of action through injuries. Captain Lee Hitchner was chosen middle guard and Bruce Wayne was honored as a defensive back.

Hitchner and Wayne will graduate, but Eckman has another year ahead of him. He is one of six members of his class on the offensive platoon, a highly unusual number of juniors to be named to an all-star Ivy team. The backfield included three who will play against next fall—Brian Dowling and Calvin Hill of Yale and Vic Gatto of Harvard. Yale fullback Don Barrows rounded out this quartet.

Moore Top Scorer. The Tiger's sophomore quarterback, Ellis Moore, led the league in putting points on the scoreboard, producing nine touchdowns for 54 points—a dozen more than the runner-up. The five TD's he made against Harvard broke an Ivy record that had stood for a decade.

Columbia quarterback Marty Domres was the leader in total offense with 126 yards, a contribution that failed to win a single game for the last-place Lions. The top Princetonian in this department was tailback Rich Bracken, who was sixth with 676 yards. Bracken was also second in punting with a 37-yard average.

Moore's 383 yards made him third in rushing, while Cabot Knowles of Penn led with 609 yards. Domes led in passing with 1633. Yale had the best offensive team, averaging 462.3 yards, while Dartmouth was stingiest, allowing only 238 per game. Princeton was fifth on offense (304.5) and fourth on defense (300.3).

SEASON REOPENS

For Small Game. Pheasant, rabbit, quail, squirrel, grouse, chukar partridge, fox, woodchuck and raccoon will be legal targets for hunters as the small game season resumes on Monday.

Hunting hours for all species except raccoon will be sunrise until a half hour after sunset. Raccoon hunters will have to work at night from one hour after sunset until a hour before the sun comes up.

A short break will occur on Saturday, December 16 in preference to the special permit deer season, and raccoon hunting will be banned on the nights of both December 15 and 16. Pheasants are out of season after December 30, but seasons for all other species will continue into January for varying periods.

For those wives faced with the task of cooking the game successful hunter has brought home, the Cooperative Extension Service of Rutgers University has prepared a new leaflet (No. 432) entitled, "Fifteen Ways to Cook Wild Game."

PMS STAKES SPEED

Against Ewing's Height, Princeton High School will attempt to prove that a smaller but hopefully faster team can beat a taller basketball squad when it journeys to Trenton for its opener with Ewing Friday night at 8.

Ewing (9-13 last year) will be led by a 6-6 sophomore, Dave Caylor, who paced Anthel Junior High to an undefeated season last year. PMS coach Larry Jan reports Caylor has a younger brother on the squad who measures about 6-4. Rick Barrett, Scott Stoner and Dave Neill comprise a solid backcourt.

"Ewing is going to be a lot bigger in the forefront than we are," said Ivan. "But we'll see how they handle themselves in the fourth quarter. If we see if they can run with it. It should be very interesting."

Ivan's tentative starting lineup calls for junior John Madden and sophomore Jeff Hanger at guard, senior Ben McEwen and Junior Billy Brooks at forward. "Those four are definitely going to start," the fifth man will be a loss-up ahead Al Marling, Jeff Frangos, Bob Upchurch — all of whom were members of the varsity last year — and Paul Rydell, 6-4 sophomore.

Two others who have looked good according to Ivan are Bill Menard, a tall senior who never played the sport before at PMS, and Bob Cooper, a short but scrappy junior.

"They're all coming around," added Ivan. "Every day I can see some improvement. We looked good against Hightstown (scrimmage) on Friday. We looked better on Saturday than we did on Friday and we looked better Sunday than we did Saturday."

Asked about Ewing's superior height and the obvious advantage it would give the Blue Devils under the boards, Ivan replied that if his boys learn to block out as they're supposed to, they will get their share of rebounds. "We've been practicing that a lot."

Said Ivan: "It's true, we don't have much height, but I'm not going to inject a boy into the lineup just because he's taller than I can run as well as another."

Running All the Time. To compensate, Ivan has turned to speed and running. "We're all working on building up speed; we're running stronger than we were before. We're going to be running all the time."

In six quarters of scrimmaging against Hightstown, Ivan reported his team was looking better. "We weren't too concerned about the score, we wanted to see what we had."

PMS STARTER: At 5-10, Ron McEwen will be one of the shortest players on the court when PMS invades Ewing for its opening game.

"We played quite a few, trying to get the right combination who run well together. Madden, Haring, McEwen and Brooks look good together."

The Little Tigers will open at home Tuesday afternoon against Franklin. Tap off is set for 3:45.

HOSPITAL NIPS FMC

In YMCA Basketball, A free throw by Roger Madden with just seconds left in double overtime gave the Hospital a 66-65 victory over FMC as the YMCA Research and Industrial Basketball League began last week. NCA routed ETS, 57-38 in the other contest.

A half-court bomb by FMC's Jerry Migliani with two seconds left in the first overtime kept FMC's hopes alive. The game was knotted at 57 all at the end of regulation time. Madden was high for the Medics with 33 points, while John Dixon and Migliani had 22 and 26 points respectively for FMC.

Sparked by Joe Cyborski with 26 and Jack Oberding with 14, NCA had little trouble with ETS. George Barton was high for the leasers with 10.

HUN FIVE RETURN

Team Bas Experience, Hun School basketball coach Dave Leete will start his third season with the heady advantage of not having lost a single player from his varsity squad last year.

"We hope to improve over last year," said Leete. "We should." Hun won seven and lost eight with its collection of sophomores and juniors last winter, including its stand-out freshman, Mike Maguire. Hun will open its season at — Continued on Next Page home Saturday afternoon at 2:30 against Bryn Athyn. The contest will be staged in the Princeton Seminary gymnasium, the home court of all Hun games. After the opener, Hun will back to the home court and not resume until January 6.

This first game may be a preview of the two who should meet in the final of the Penn-Jersey League. "Bryn Athyn is going to be strong," said Leete. "They have at least three of their starting line backs and two of those three made the all Penn-Jersey team last year. They are going to be very strong."

Hun Has Overall Height. In addition to absolute experience, Hun also has height this year. "Something is has frequently lacked in the past," commented Leete. "But we do have good overall height. I could easily start five all measuring 6'2 1/2."

Four who will start against Bryn Athyn are Don Silverson, 6-2 junior forward; Nat Williams, 6-2 junior center; Mike Maguire, 6-2 sophomore guard; and co-captain Pete Braveman, 5-11 senior guard.

The remaining eight of the 12-man varsity squad are juniors Herman Secker (6-2), Bob Johnson (6-4) and Steve Brooks (5-7), sophomore Mike Rossi (5-11) and seniors Ken Kelly (5-7), Marc Short (6-6-10), Marshall Sittig (6-2) and Jim Hatherley (6-1). Nine of the 12 played in one of the fall sports of football, soccer or cross country, Leete reported. "so they're in pretty good shape."

Princetonian at Rutgers Is East's Best Sophomore

Named Sophomore of Year, Bruce Van Ness, a halfback on the Rutgers football team, and a Princeton resident at 22 Cedar Lane, has been named sophomore of the year by the Eastern College Athletic Conference.

Tabbed as the Scarlet Knights first-string quarterback for this season, Van Ness aggravated an old injury to his shoulder during the summer, and wound up at halfback because he could not pass effectively. Midway through the fall, he returned to quarterback, providing Rutgers with a more balanced attack.

An alumna of Procter Academy in New Hampshire, the 6-3, 205-pound sophomore will be a key figure in Coach John Balemi's offense for the next two seasons.

HUN STARTER: Mike Maguire of Princeton, a veteran as a sophomore, is a member of the starting basketball team of the Hun School.

As Leete sees it, perhaps the biggest problem he has to overcome is a "coach's problem" — finding the right five. "I have so many with a lot of ability that this is going to be a problem."

In all, 56 boys came out for the sport, Leete said. He plans to cut this to 37. "I like to have about 12 boys on each of the varsity, junior varsity and freshman teams," he said.

Jim Boyer, former Hun player, is coaching the freshman team. Art Ware is handling the jayvee squad.

Carol List was the most consistent bowler in the Women's Business League. Fashioning's Mella Crusier had 218-187-232-243. Charlotte Brent (178-178-635).

Behind Det Wheeler's 188 were Diane Fowler 109; Helen Tammsi, 190-171 (231); Beverly Kist, 179; Alice Tinning, 173-54 pins over her retained - and Alice Burroughs, 171.

Rocky Hill Inn became its hold on first place with 51 points. Nin Plymouth had 46. University Cleaners, 42.

Princeton's last game was a point and slipped to a fourth place tie with Bucci Builders. Tigers won 49 points.

VILLANOVA THURISHED
Tigers Won Easily, 72 to 52. Not many basketball teams manage to defeat Villanova three times in a row but Princeton painted a third stripe on the Wildcats' last Tuesday night in highly convincing fashion.

The one-sided 72-52 triumph before the usual 870 crowd of 3,000 in Dillon Gym followed conquests of the Mainliners last season in their own gymnasium and in the Quaker City Classic in the Palestra. In contrast to others, Villanova's victory turned out to be the wire, this one was clearly in the bag before the first half ended.

Seven won not the visitors' half-court. With seven minutes left in the first half, they had managed exactly seven points in the face of a picture-perfect Princeton defense that completely choked the energy action. Coach Pete Carrisi's improving Tigers, on the other hand, had put 25 on the board by that time, and Coach Jack Kraft of the visiting Wildcats had already begun to put substitutes in to replace his zero cold regulars.

So congested was Villanova's early play that its floor-shooting percentage at half time was a barely visible 14.7 percent. Princeton's success was, relatively, 49.6 percent. 14 of 24 shots.

Best defensive performance of the evening was credited to sophomore John Hammer, who pored the little Johnny Jones to four points in the first half - all free throws. Hammer was in a bit of foul trouble with three before the period ran out but Dave Lawyer took over guarding Jones with no decrease in effectiveness.

Top offensive performances were credited to the Tigers' guards. Captain Joe Heiser and sophomore Geoff Petrie. Heiser's play-direction was notably successful and he was high man for the night with 19 points, including a great 8 for 11 (7/23) from the floor.

Petrie Gaining Confidence. Understandably so, even with a tight against Army. Petrie was measurably better as early as his second victory game. He is already working well with Heiser, and Villanova's light half-court press rarely functioned to its advantage.

Before the first half ended, Heiser and Petrie had bombed the losers out of their zone with outside shooting and the ensuing man-for-man was even easier for the contented Tigers.

Petrie was 8 for 7 from the line for 18 on the night.

John Harlow joined the two guards in double figures with 14. Big Chris Thorndike continued cold from the floor (1 for 5) but made 10 free throws.

The Tigers had near-unbelievable 22-point lead at half time (37 to 15). City champions in Philadelphia last season, the Cats had opened this winter by beating always tough Providence on its own floor. They are, in short, a considerably better than average team that on this occasion, at least, was considerably outplayed.

The Princeton lead ranged upwards to 30 points in the early minutes of the second half before Carrisi began to clear his bench. The reserves retained control, for the game closed out at 52 to 25 for the losers, and interest in the action that lies ahead moved a number of degrees nearer the boiling point.

TOUGH OFFENER
For PHS Grapplers. For a school starting its second year of varsity competition in wrestling, as Princeton High School is, to open its season against Hunterdon Central is like the little Tiger eleven taking on the Green Bay Packers: no chance at all.

Saturday evening at Hunterdon Central and again on Wednesday against visiting North Hunterdon (PHS gym class) the Little Tigers will be simply outclassed. The Hunterdon area is one of the citadels of wrestling in central Jersey.

"We're shooting for the moon on Saturday," said PHS coach Tom Murray. "We wrestle them because nobody else wants to. I feel if you're going to wrestle, you might as well wrestle the best. We have to face them in the districts anyway.

There will be good for the boys too. They won't find anyone better. It would be easy to get a paty schedule but what's the sense to that?"

Strong In Some Classes. From a squad of about 30, Murray reports he is strong in some weight classes but not in all. The team is weaker in the lower divisions and in the heavyweight or unlimited class where Murray has no one to date. He adds that half a dozen boys should do well this season.

Heading this list would be Hank Wilkinson, now wrestling his third year in the 115-lb. class. One of the few with any experience, Wilkinson advanced to the semi-finals in the district matches last winter.

"Hank should hold his own with anyone this year," commented Murray. "He's real quick and he has a lot more confidence in himself. He should make it all the way to state this year."

Another junior - the team is comprised predominately of underclassmen - is Ross Bayer, a former YMCA wrestling champion. Bayer has the experience and the ability to be an outstanding wrestler - if he puts his mind to it. He still competes in the 148-lb. class.

Two more veterans who lack some of the expertise of Wilkinson and Bayer but who compensate for it with their strength are Nick Arcaro, 168-pounder, and Sam Proccaccio, 130 lbs. Of the latter, Murray says: "He's strong. He's going to be a good one."

A senior, John Barclay will return in the 136-pound division but Marty Heiner has dropped a notch to the 132-pound class. Barclay hopes the drop in weight will make Heiner near a better wrestler. Last year, he had a tendency to confer Murray by performing well one match and less so another. Marty Peabody, a sophomore, will compete at 141 pounds.

Others on the squad are Tommy Evans and Dave MacDonald, two freshmen competing for the 98-lb berth, where Mark Evans, Tommy's older brother holds forth; Danny Galea, a sophomore with no experience who still fight it out with freshman Chuck Egger, and another sophomore, Billy Conascheck, for the right to compete in the 106-lb division.

Joe Corio, Bobby Arcaro, Nick's younger brother, and the third Peacock are behind Wilkinson in the 115-lb. class. At 123, it is crowded. There are Pete Sherren, John Proccaccio, Roy Hutson, Dave Corrington, and Tris Coffin. Tris is the only senior.

Meat Up from Jayvees. Bobby Moore, up from the Jayvee team, is at 130. At 136 are Bill Albert, a newcomer to the school with one year's experience; Mike Jameson and Bill Feldman. Isaac Menusche is a prospect for 141 pounds, while Bill Meigs and Leon Corio, the latter "a big, strong boy" are competing at the 148-pound level.

In the heavier weights, Murray reports Dick Winterbottom is back at 148 pounds and showing a lot of improvement.

A sophomore and transfer student from Princeton Day School, Chris Mielow is 158 pounds, and Joe McGee, a sophomore with no experience is a candidate for the recent heavyweight class.

George Bates, a practitioner of judo and fast with his hands, will try to jump Arcaro from the 168-pound division.

PHS won only three matches.

There are a lot of good cars you can get for $3400. This is two of them:

If you don't happen to need two cars, there's only one thing that you need less. One car that costs as much as two cars.

Unless you want to pay a lot of money for a lot of horsepower that you'll never use. There's only one state in the country where you can go faster than a Volkswagen—Nevada. (No speed limit—they're big gamblers out there.)

The only extra horsepower you really need is for all those power gadgets. Which you need to drive a car that size. Which has to be that size to hold all those horses.

All of which also makes the average car cost almost as much to run as two Volkswagens. Considering a VW gets as much as 27 miles to a gallon of gas.

But if you're still not sold on the idea of two bugs for the price of one beast, why not take advantage of this special introductory offer: one Volkswagen for half the price of two.

BUSINESS In Princeton

ORC HONORS RUGG

For 25 Years of Service. Opinion Research Corporation presented W. Donald Rugg, 92 Overbrook Drive, with two round trip tickets to London in honor of his 25 years of service to the firm. Joseph C. Bey is chairman of the board, made the presentation at a special company meeting also attended by Mr. Rugg's wife, Mabel, and daughter, Mrs. George Britton.

A vice-president and director of ORC, Dr. Rugg joined its staff as a research analyst December 1, 1912. He had previously worked with the Princeton University Office of Public Opinion Research. An alumnus of Cornell College (Iowa), Dr. Rugg received a master's degree from the University of Rochester and his doctorate from Princeton.

He has served as a director of the YMCA and the Chamber of Commerce, and is currently on the advisory council to the University's Department of Psychology.

CHAMBER BACKS LAW

On Parking Regulations. The Chamber of Commerce has gone on record as favoring the proposed new parking ordinance for the Borough and recommends its adoption.

The Chamber points out that the ordinance is designed to provide spaces near the Nassau Street shopping area for short-time shoppers, and space with longer parking time further from the stores for those wishing to shop longer. The Chamber feels that this should make more of the existing spaces available for those wanting to do business in the town.

"For some time," the Chamber's statement says, "business coming to Nassau Street has been driven away to some other place after people have tried in vain to find a place to stop. Much of the problem is due to long-time parking by meter feeders, who have occupied the places in front of stores thus pushing the short time shoppers to the parking areas located at a distance from the stores."

The Chamber concludes that "ironically, some of the store operators are short-sighted enough to be the most glibly and cannot see that they are hurting their own business."

FACILITIES ACQUIRED

For FMC Expansion. The Chemical Research and Development Center, a division of FMC Corporation, has purchased additional research facilities from Columbia Carbon Company. The move will enable the Research and Development Center to increase its present 100,000 square feet of floor space by one-third.

Dr. Oscar H. Johnson, vice president and director of Research for FMC Corporation's Chemical Divisions, announced the transaction, whose effective date of sale will be May 1, 1964. The land slated for transfer is a 28-acre site between Plainsboro Road and Millstone River.

The four existing buildings on the plot will be used to

BONDS FOR 92-A

State Highway 92-A, by-pass around Princeton, in the winter of 1962, may hinge on whether New Jersey will approve a state highway bond issue.

New Jersey's Transportation Department said last week it is planning to issue a $10 million bond issue to finance the project.

In a report released by the department, it was stated that the project would cost about $10 million more than the state's estimate.

The choral service has been sung at Kings College Chapel in Cambridge, England, for about 40 years. It was originated by Dr. E. W. Benson, later archbishop, in 1880 in Truro, England, where it was long the custom for choristers to sing carols at the residences of the congregation. In 1878 the bishop substituted the carol service in the cathedral.

Trinity has sung this lovely festival service for the past several years.

The KLH Model Twenty Stereo Music System.

Fill your home with music, not with equipment.

If you want to fill your home with superb music without cluttering it with bulky, expensive equipment, come see and hear the KLH Model Twenty, a high-performance stereo music system designed to fit gracefully into your living room.

Don't be deceived by the unobtrusive, piled walnut cabinetry and the clean, non-knobby look of the Twenty. Just turn it on and listen to sound that isn't easy to come by at twice the size and price.

The KLH Model Twenty is a complete stereo music system. It has a sensitive, drift-free FM stereo tuner as well as a custom-built Garrard record changer with Pickering magnetic cartridge and diamond stylus. Plus jacks for external equipment, headphones, and making tape recordings.

The Model Twenty has powerful solid-state circuitry (50 watts music power, 100 watts peak power) that will fill even the largest living room. And a pair of two-way high-performance speaker systems that cover the full range of music with precise active-to-ocave balance.

Everything inside the Twenty was carefully designed and built by KLH to produce a music system that would fit a living room instead of standing out in a showroom.

If that's what you've been looking for, come see and hear the KLH Model Twenty for yourself.

And now AM radio can be beautiful too. The Model Twenty also available with new high quality AM.

GOLF COURSE is right across the road! Old Colonial with beautiful shade trees. Owner has devoted a great deal of thought and money to the modernization of this house. The result is a delightful place to live in with every modern convenience, yet the exterior and the grounds still retain the charm which always comes to mind when one hears about an old farm house in the country. There are certain drawbacks about the property, to be sure, but the size of the house, the proximity of the golf course, and the extremely favorable price make this one of the best buys we have on our list . . . Entrance hall, den with bookshelves, paneled dining room, living room with fireplace and built-in bar, brand new kitchen, fully equipped. Second floor: master bedroom and bath, 4 nice bedrooms & bath. Almost an acre of land . . . Should be seen!

(sole agent) $32,000

CLOSE IN . . . walk to University, or to N. Y. Express bus. Here is an interesting home, in an excellent location, which has living room with fireplace, dining room, powder room, kitchen and a fine new family room with entrances from foyer and kitchen. Upstairs, 3 bedrooms and a tiled bath. Fenced backyard, with lovely trees and landscaping. (sole agent) $33,500

CLASSIC COLONIAL . . . In nearby Lawrence, on a high corner lot, this delightful red shingled home, with white shutters and trim, is only 6 years old. 23 foot living room with fireplace. Separate dining room. Sunny family room off the kitchen, with adjacent powder room. Full basement. 2-car garage. Upstairs: 4 corner bedrooms, 2 baths. This is a spacious home in a fine neighborhood with plenty of children. School within walking distance. Wall-to-wall carpeting included. Aluminum storms & screens. Quick occupancy as the owners are building a new and larger home and can move within 30 days. (sole agent) $36,500

FOUR BEDROOMS . . . in one of Princeton's most attractive neighboring communities, with a gorgeous view of rolling wooded countryside, this fine shingled Colonial home has white trim and shutters. One acre of land, with beautiful lawns and shrubbery and a fenced backyard. The house has a foyer with powder room on one side and half closet on the other. Two steps down, there is a large living room with fireplace and cross ventilation. Paneled den. Separate dining room. Large kitchen with ample breakfast space, adjoining laundry and entrance to attached 2-car garage. Large dry basement. Upstairs: master bedroom with big walk-in closet, another closet and bath, plus 3 more bedrooms and bath. $42,500

HILLTOP HOME . . . built 'way back from the street, among tall trees on two beautiful acres in one of Princeton's most neighborly nearby communities, the two-story Colonial house has 4 bedrooms, 2 1/2 baths. First floor has foyer, living room with fireplace, separate dining room, den, powder room, kitchen and laundry. 2-car attached garage. Full basement. However, this property is much more than a nice 4-bedroom house in the country — here is a wonderful way to live . . . with a big 20x40 swimming pool, a lovely garden, complete privacy, and most of the land covered with shrubs, trees and vines so that the owner can enjoy his weekends and not dedicate himself to life on a lawnmower . . . And, perhaps most interesting of all, there is almost an acre next door which can be bought and added to this property so that a legal one-acre lot might be disposed of, thus considerably reducing the net cost of the property. (sole agent) $49,500

LAWRENCEVILLE . . . 5 bedrooms, 2 1/2 baths. Large Colonial, built in 1965, on a wooded acre. Entry hall, living room 13.4 x 23, dining room, family room with fireplace, modern kitchen, laundry & powder room. Central air-conditioning. Lovely patio. This is one of the beautiful homes in secluded "Longacres," adjoining a college campus, where all that Time can do to the property is make it more attractive . . . and more valuable. The owner has added many improvements to this property, and every mother will be delighted that there are lots of young children in this area and virtually no traffic on its quiet streets. (sole agent) $59,500

RENTAL . . . very convenient location—many of the neighbors walk to the University, and the N.Y. Express bus is only 3 blocks away. The house has living room with fireplace, dining room with bay window, kitchen with electric dishwasher, powder room and paneled den. Second floor: 3 bedrooms and tiled bath. The backyard is completely fenced. Property has nice trees and is well landscaped. $300 per month

APARTMENT . . . in the Western Section, on a beautifully landscaped property, here is a wonderful place to live. A separate building, with its own backyard and next to a swimming pool which tenants may use, the apartment has living room with fireplace, dining room, modern kitchen, 3 bedrooms and bath. No small children however, and no animal pets. One year lease preferred. $300 per month
